BULLETIN

Attorney Otto Jacobs, of Santa Ana, this afternoon was in secret session with the Orange county grand jury for more than an hour, and was followed in the room by A. B. Berry, editor of a Santa Ana weekly. During the time Jacobs was in the jury room, District Attorney W. F. Menton, who is conducting the proceedings, was not present, but was summoned to join the body shortly after Berry was called. Prior to the primary election, Jacobs made a radio talk in opposition to Sheriff Logan Jackson.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Chairman John L. Lewis of the C.I.O. today declined an invitation from the National Broadcasting Company to participate tonight in a radio debate with President William Green of the A. F. of L.

CONVENTION HALL, HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 11.—(UP)—The American Federation of Labor convention today criticized the wages-hour law, attacked labor's Non-Partisan League and ignored an offer by C. I. O. Chieftain John L. Lewis to resign if William Green, A. F. of L. head will do likewise, in a move to end labor's civil war.

It was announced officially at mid-day that Lewis and Green would lay their case before the country tonight over a nationwide National Broadcasting company hookup. Green promptly accepted an offer by the company to follow Lewis on the other and that his aides were advised that Lewis had not yet accepted the NBC invitation to air the quarrel.

Proposal "Silly"
The CIO chieftain's offer, made at a press conference in Washington, was received here with mingled amusement and anger by members of the federation's "Royal House."

"It's perfectly silly," blurted out Ed Rivers, secretary of the powerful Building Trades department of the federation. "Why should Green resign? I'd rather read that Lewis would resign as head of the United Mine Workers which is pouring all this money into the CIO to finance it."

"It's a Phoney"
John Coefield, head of the Plumbers, who has the sharpest tongue on the executive council, said:

"If we were to accept Lewis' proposal, Green would be out and Lewis would still be in. It's a phoney."

Dan Tracy, president of the Electrical Workers, doubted the

River Levee Bids Opened Today

Thirteen bids on the Santa Ana river levee contract were opened today by the county supervisors, and, after being classified, will be referred to the state department of public works, which must pass approval upon them, since the state is assisting with a $200,000 contribution to the project.

The board, scheduled to open bids this afternoon upon the purchase of materials for the levee project, which need not be referred to the state, expected to adjourn until Saturday, when it is hoped that the state's report on the construction bids will be received.

Today's bids being in unit form, no total amounts of bids were stated. One bidder, Mark L. Hart, of Orange, was automatically eliminated for failing to accompany his bid with a "good faith" check, as required by law.

SOCIAL SECURITY EXPERTS IN ATTACK ON PENSION SCHEMES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Experts of the social security board, it was learned today, have prepared a report for President Roosevelt on "crackpot pension schemes sweeping the country."

Compiled by attorney and technicians familiar with pension legislation, the report warns that such "schemes" as the Townsend plan or the more recent "30-Every-Thursdays" plan in California would cause economic chaos "comparable to the disastrous post war inflation period in Germany."

Seen As Threats
The report was prepared for guidance of the administration and was disclosed shortly after the state officials announced that they would expedite a program to liberalize and expand the social security act. It analyzes pension plans that are political issues in many states and

Foes Defied By Cardinal

VIENNA, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Cardinal Innitzer, struck back at anti-Catholic elements today with a manifesto calling on parents to see that their children are given religious education and laying down 10 commandments for them to follow.

The manifesto was distributed simultaneously with a big scale roundup of anti-Catholic rioters as Adolf Hitler personally ordered an investigation of disorders at Cardinal Innitzer's cathedral and the Papal Nuncio to Berlin protested to the German government against them.

Distributed
The manifesto was entitled "A Word to Catholic Parents." It was signed by Cardinal Innitzer and published as a leaflet by the Vienna Archdiocesan Diocese under date of Sept. 24. It was placed in the mail boxes or shoved under doors in various parts of Vienna.

CZECH REFUGEES IN APPEAL TO AMERICA

PRAGUE, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Austrian and German refugees, some of whom fear death under Nazi rule, appealed for United States aid today in finding asylum in America and other countries.

Some 700 refugees at Burno asked the help of the United States legation.

The appeal said that many of the refugees would be sent to concentration camps and some faced execution, if they entered Germany or came under German rule once again in the German-occupied regions of Czechoslovakia.

Housing Problem
The Prague government faced the problem of finding homes for 60,000 refugees, all of whom originally had fled from Germany and Austria. The shrinking boundaries of the little republic made it difficult for them to remain here.

Many of the refugees had been scheduled to leave tonight but the government postponed their departure owing to the danger they faced if they were forced to return to Germany.

Many of them found it impossible to get visas to leave Czechoslovakia through Roumania. The Hungarian and Polish frontiers were virtually closed to them.

Political Burdens
They were both economic and political burdens. The government was hard pressed to provide for the fast growing army of unemployed Czechs from the mining and industrial areas that the country had ceased.

Furthermore, more than 1000 of the refugees were hunted political fugitives from Austria and their presence here might be a barrier to the future Czechoslovak policy of friendliness to Germany.

The refugees themselves were becoming frantic. The central committee

Orange Resident Killed In Crash

B. A. "Bud" Brown, 23, of North Cleveland street, Orange, an employee of the Robinson Fertilizer company of Orange, was fatally injured in a collision between a truck he was driving and an automobile driven by F. P. Hulet, of Bell, at Rosemont and San Gabriel boulevards, near Whittier, at 8 o'clock last night.

Brown was rushed to the Whittier hospital, where he died a half hour later of a fractured skull. The body was removed to a Whittier mortuary. Following an inquest the remains will be sent to Modesto for interment. The father and mother of the Orange man reside there.

Delude Millions
The epidemic of crackpot pension schemes sweeping the country must be taken seriously only because their surface plausibility has succeeded in deluding so many millions of the aged, their friends and relatives," the report said. "This will continue until the men and

SELL PART OF FAMED RANCH

Sale of 4600 acres of the Santa Margarita rancho lying in Orange county to Ernest A. Bryant, Orange cattleman and son of Mrs. Susanna Bixby Bryant, owner of Rancho Santa Ana, was confirmed officially today.

The acreage, rich in quality of soil, is located in the upper part of Gubernadora canyon which is a branch of San Juan canyon. The price to be paid by Bryant to the Santa Margarita rancho company has not been announced.

Break Up Ranch
Sale of the land, part of a plan to break up the Santa Margarita rancho company holdings, was made by the R. A. Rowan company of Los Angeles. The Santa Margarita company, which has 200,000 acres of land, partly in Orange county, partly in San Diego county, has two great ranches in the southern end of Orange county.

The land bought by Bryant is located near the Trabuco mesa area. Another division of the ranch would include several hundred acres in what is known as Oso canyon, near El Toro. The portion of the Santa Margarita rancho company holdings in this county comprises two old Mexican grants, the Rancho Trabuco in which the Trabuco mesa and Bryant's land is located, and the Rancho Mission Viejo. Rancho Trabuco is located east and southeast of El Toro, Rancho Mission Viejo, east of San Juan Capistrano. About half of the county south of the Irvine company ranches in these two ranches.

Bryant, resident of San Marino, has large land holdings in the Los Alamitos district.

NIPPON PLANES IN RAID ON CHINESE

SHANGHAI, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Japanese airplanes bombed Chinese troop concentrations today near Jehan, on the western shore of Poyang Lake southeast of Hankow, where the Japanese were reported to have suffered a severe defeat.

Japanese army and navy forces pressed their campaign against the former capital, hoping to force its capitulation before winter.

A naval spokesman asserted that Japanese marines landed and occupied Shihweiyao on Yangtze river, 78 miles from Hankow. North of the former capital, the Japanese reported they had taken and occupied Sinyang, important city on the railroad from Pieping to Hankow.

Retaliates
The troop bombings near Jehan reportedly were in retaliation for what the Chinese claimed was their biggest victory since the battle for Taiherchwang, to the north near the Lung-Hai railroad. The Chinese said that 20,000 Japanese were killed at Jehan and that the victory probably would enable them to check the Japanese drive on the Hankow-Canton railroad to the west.

In the battle for Sinyang, the Japanese claimed they fought Russian tanks in the streets. The Chinese claimed to have counter-attacked south of Sinyang, re-taking the towns of Ksintien and Liulin.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 11.—(UP)—Two women, one the mother of three children, and their husbands were held by police today after the women confessed that they had exchanged husbands Aug. 1, and had since lived together in harmony in the same house.

They were Mrs. Martha Helen Gruner, 34, Alfred Gruner, 47, Mrs. Albert Doolittle, 38, and Glenn Doolittle, 38. All were charged with adultery.

Police Chief William Rapp said that both women volunteered the information that they were expectant mothers.

Doolittle and Gruner are railroad firemen and have known each other 18 years.

Mooney Raps Court Edict

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Thomas J. Mooney, famed labor prisoner convicted of the Preparedness Day bombing here in 1918, turned his back on the courts today and placed his hopes for freedom on political or economic action.

All court actions pressed in his behalf during the years he has spent in San Quentin prison ended with the supreme court's denial of a writ of certiorari to review his case. Mooney said through the Tom Mooney Molders' defense committee, which has led organized labor's fight in his behalf.

Denounces Court
Two wires were sent by Mooney, one to his attorney, John F. Finerty, in Washington, D. C., in which the supreme court was denounced in scathing terms, and the other to Gov. Frank F. Merriam.

The second wire asked Merriam

ROCKS, POTS FLY AS BUND HOLDS FORUM

NEW MILFORD, N. J., Oct. 11.—(UP)—The German-American Bund convened on the glass enclosed porch of the home of Miss Caroline Meade, former Shakespearean actress, to discuss Americanism last night.

The meeting was open and dissenters were invited. The Bund sent 10 uniformed Nazis but Andrew Jackson Veterans Post, the Jewish War Veterans and the Association of Czechs also were amply represented both on and off the porch.

Police Stand By
Ninety policemen and firemen were cloistered behind an iron-grated fence 100 feet away, under orders not to intervene unless Miss Meade called for help.

J. C. Fitting denounced critics of the Bund.

A stone crashed through a glass pane of the porch. Stanley Smith, chairman of the American Nationalist Party, speaking next, denounced President Roosevelt, Communists and the Musicians' Union.

"I am a member of the Musicians' Union and I am not a Communist," a heckler shouted.

"Well," said Smith, "I was told that."

Flower Pot Hurler
A flower pot crashed through a pane of glass.

G. William Kunze, a Bund official, was next.

"Take that uniform off!" a heckler commanded.

"My father and grandfather were citizens and I'm a citizen," Kunze began.

"If we can't have a meeting here without interruption something is wrong with Americanism."

A rock struck the platform a few inches from his leg.

"Let them break all the windows," Miss Meade exclaimed.

Kunze said Jews created an economic problem and that "so many of us have gone through the same

Brazil Recalls Nazi Ambassador

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Unimpeachable sources said today that Jose Joaquim de Lima E Silva, Brazilian ambassador to Germany, had been instructed to return to Rio de Janeiro.

It was understood, at the same time, that there would be no surprise in Brazilian government quarters if Karl Ritter, German ambassador to Brazil, failed to return to Rio de Janeiro from Germany where he is visiting.

Brazilian officials at Rio de Janeiro refused to discuss these rumors. However, there had been evidence of some strain in Brazilian-German relations since President Getulio Vargas proclaimed his authoritarian state in November, 1937, and curbed foreign political activities.

Mother Aids Escaped Convict

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 11.—(UP)—Sheriff's posse today hunted John Granville, 24-year-old escaped convict, who eluded capture at his mother's home last night.

As Arab Revolt Spreads In Holy Land

As the two-and-a-half-year reign of terror by Arab rebels against British mandate rule in Palestine became so intensified that 1700 casualties and more than 700 deaths resulted in the last ten weeks, Great Britain took drastic steps to crush the revolt. British troops, aided by Royal Air Force planes, killed 50 men in a major engagement near the northern border of Galilee. Because of the guerrilla nature of the warfare, all Arabs are under close surveillance. In the photo above, Jewish supernumerary police are shown searching Arabs in the mountains of Galilee.

Fighting Spreads In Holy Land As British Seek To Smash Rebels

JERUSALEM, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Fighting spread throughout Palestine today as British troops set up headquarters in the courtyard of the Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem in a new drive to crush rebellion in the Holy Land.

Seventeen Arabs have been killed and numerous Arabs and police constabulary wounded in scattered clashes during the past 24 hours.

Near Beisan, 15 Arabs were killed in a battle with British Transjordan frontier forces. Capt. Seymour Evans was slightly wounded in the clash.

19 Arrested
An Arab was shot dead in Jerusalem and a Jew seriously wounded. Two Arabs and four constables were wounded in two encounters near Nessziona.

Nineteen Arabs were arrested near Haifa and 33 in the village of Qubatiya where an Arab was killed resisting arrest.

Rebels shot into and threw bombs at the military camp at Nablus, police said, and widespread sabotage of telephone lines was reported.

British troops set up headquarters in the courtyard of the Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem today, preparatory to a campaign against Arab rebels who had occupied the town.

Peaceable Occupation
Armored cars and artillery were set in place and the occupation was peaceable, although the city of Biblical fame was still under Arab control.

It was believed that the British invasion was part of a general campaign in Palestine, to be undertaken as soon as heavy troop reinforcements arrive in the next three weeks.

Many Killed
The latest outbreak was reported last night from Beisan, in the Jordan valley, where 11 Arabs were killed and three wounded. An armoured Arab band attacked a settlement and battled police until planes of the British Royal Air Force arrived to rout them with machine gun fire.

The inter-parliamentary Palestine congress, in session at Cairo, Egypt, referred to a final plenary session today a resolution demanding the suspension of Jewish immigration to Palestine; the establishment of a constitutional government similar to that of Iraq, in partnership with the British government, the repatriation of deported Arabs and release of all political prisoners.

According to reports of committee heads today, the schools division, under the supervision of Frank A. Henderson, stood highest with 55 per cent of their total quota already subscribed. Leading the field in the residential division were the workers under Mrs. C. F. Smith with a total of 42-1-2 per cent of the quota. More than 1,200 subscriptions have been turned in by workers in the first two days of the campaign.

Hope Fades For Missing Couples

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Four empty life jackets and an overturned 16 foot outboard motorboat were the only clues today to the disappearance of two young couples missing since Monday on a boating trip in San Francisco Bay.

The four, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Murrell and Mr. and Mrs. Silbert Wilkins, left Monday to try out the boat, which was a homemade craft on which they had been working for some time.

That night, Capt. David C. Austin, head of the watch crew aboard the Dollar liner President Hayes, docked off Hunters Point, reported he heard cries coming through the fog.

Flares and sky rockets were sent up but no trace of the two couples was found.

Mail Fraud Trial Resumed

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 11.—(UP)—The mail fraud trial of 13 former officers and directors of the Old Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California resumed in U. S. district court here today after a five day recess to give defense and government attorneys time to agree on certain stipulations.

Government attorneys said that agreement had been reached on many points, and entry of various books, records, letters and other material evidence was stipulated when the court opened.

Later today the jury was scheduled to hear the indictment against the Los Angeles and San Francisco defendants and an opening statement made by government counsel.

DEFENDANTS STILL FREE

An unidentified witness spent nearly the entire morning session before the county grand jury as it resumed its investigation today into the political pamphlet, "Fools Rush In," after a half-day recess.

Reports that the witness today was Burt Harwick, operator of the Los Angeles plant where the pamphlet was printed, could not be verified. Harwick is one of the defendants named in a complaint filed yesterday by District Attorney W. F. Menton, charging criminal conspiracy and criminal libel in connection with the pamphlet.

No Arrests
So far no arrests have been made as a result of the complaint. Sheriff Jackson stated that he is not "looking for" the defendants because he was informed that District Attorney Menton is arranging for their surrender.

Harwick and his plant manager, Robert Elliott, were named in the complaint, together with S. S. Whitman, manager of the Atlas Distributing company, which circulated the pamphlet, and Eddie Taylor, employee of the distributing company. Taylor was one of three distributors arrested by Fullerton police in the act of circulating the pamphlet.

Mystery Man
Another defendant named was "J. M. Paulson," the mystery person "behind" the pamphlet, which county authorities, including the grand jury, are straining every effort to identify and locate.

Robert Elliott was in Santa Ana yesterday afternoon, on summons to appear before the grand jury for a second time, but the grand jury was not there to hear him.

Son Killer Held On Murder Charge

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 11.—(UP)—James Cordova, 29-year-old Mexican WPA worker who used a hatchet to hack his one small son to death and critically injured the other, today faced a murder charge if he survives a slit throat inflicted Sunday night when he attempted suicide after endeavoring to kill his two children.

Hospital attendants said Cordova had a "good chance to recover."

His three-year-old son, William, died yesterday from a bashed-in skull suffered when his father attacked him and his brother, Richard, 6, with a hatchet as they lay sleeping in bed. Richard's condition was said to be critical.

Municipal Judge Eugene Daney, Jr., ordered Cordova held under guard at the San Diego County hospital, and arraigned him on a charge of murder.

Convict Invents New "Gadget"

FOLSOM PRISON, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Speed calculators on automobiles, airplanes, bicycles, nearly everything mechanical—so why not typewriters?

That question puzzled a convict at Folsom prison and he began tinkering. The result was a simple inexpensive gadget that will fit any typewriter and give the exact number of words per minute the machine is doing at any given time.

Patent applications are pending and marketing of the device is expected to be of great service to business schools where speed typing is taught.

CHARGES HURLED BY SOVIETS REFUTED; LINDBERGH SILENT

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Viscountess Astor made a blanket denial today of allegations that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, at a dinner she gave in his honor, belittled the Russian air force and thus influenced the British-French "surrender" to Germany in the Sudetenland minority crisis.

First repudiating any suggestion regarding the letter of denunciation which 11 leading Russian aviators published in Moscow, alleging that he, after being the guest of Russian fliers, made remarks whose purport was that the Soviet political purge had so weakened the air force it was ineffective, and that the German air force was superior to the Russian, British, French and Czechoslovak air forces combined.

BEMIS TO TALK ON SINGLE TAX

A review of the single tax measure appearing on the November ballot as Proposition No. 20 will be given by Dr. George W. Bemis, research associate of the bureau of government research, University of California, at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at Willard school auditorium.

Dr. Bemis will present his talk under the sponsorship of the adult education department.

Holds the Record
According to Bemis, the single tax measure is a familiar subject to California voters. As a "repeat" measure it holds the record in so far as California elections are concerned, he said.

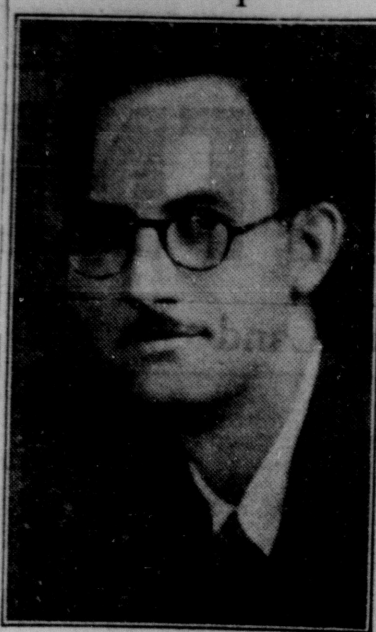

"This will be the fifth time it has appeared on the ballot, and each time it has been defeated by a large majority. In 1916, when it actually came to a vote for the first time the result was 576,000 against and 260,000 for.

"In 1918 the outcome was 360,000 against and 115,000 for." At the two succeeding general elections the majorities registered were as large or larger.

Combines Provision
"After the election of 1922, the matter lay dormant, as far as the voters were concerned, until 1936, when the measure was again presented—this time combined with a provision of the sales tax, only to be kept off the ballot by a Supreme Court ruling.

"The present measure is also a modified form of single tax, repealing the sales tax, license fees, corporation, inheritance and income taxes," Dr. Bemis said.

TWO HORROR FILMS CO-BILL TOMORROW

Manager George King of the Broadway theater today warned weak-hearted theatergoers to stay away from the theater tomorrow. The warning was given because starting tomorrow, the Broadway will show the two super-shockers of the century—"Frankenstein" and "Dracula."

Double billing of these two famous horror films marks a new departure in showmanship, and it should please those who like their entertainment steeped in mystery, horrifying characters, scenes and situations, heart-chilling drama and atmosphere and everything else that goes toward making a real horror show.

Besides the actual screening of the two creepy features, Manager King is planning some innovations in the way of atmosphere and introduction. Presentation of the two horror films on the same program represents a challenge to stout-hearted persons who think they can "take it." It was stated, Bela Lugosi has the title role in "Dracula," and the cast in the film includes the late Colin Clive, Mae Clarke and John Boles. The horror bill will start tomorrow afternoon at the Broadway and continue through Saturday.

COUNTY BEAN GROWERS TO GET $400,000 PAYMENT SATURDAY

Approximately $400,000 will be paid Saturday to lima bean growers of the county who are members of the California Lima Bean Growers Association as officials of the association today announced first payment for the 1938 bean crop.

The payment will fall nearly $200,000 short of the first payment made last year. Prevailing lower prices for beans is held to be the cause of the drop in payment.

At the same time officials of the organization announced that final payment of the 1937 crop will be made about November 1 and will represent approximately one quarter of the total payment for the year.

Threshing of beans in this county is rapidly drawing to a close and second payment on this year's crop will probably be made some time in November. Local associations linked with the state association are the San Joaquin, Greenville, and Snelitzer bean growers associations.

The $400,000 check to be paid on Saturday is figured on a two and one-half cent payment on approximately 85 per cent of the crop harvested during last month.

Jeffrey Suit In Second Court Day

Trial of Warner Alexander Jeffrey's suit for divorce, in which he charges his wife, Ellen Eunice Jeffrey, with cruelty, was resumed today before Superior Judge H. G. Ames, having been started yesterday. Mrs. Jeffrey filed a cross-complaint for divorce, charging him with cruelty.

The Jeffreys married at Waurika, Okla., August 31, 1935, and separated at Fullerton, Jeffrey fixing the separate date as last November 13, while his wife alleges it was February 25, when he packed her into his car and left her at the home of her parents in Anaheim. The couple has one daughter, aged two, and are expecting another child, according to Mrs. Jeffrey's cross-complaint.

Sloan. Boris Karloff plays the inhuman monster created by a scientist during a terrible storm in "Frankenstein," and the cast in the film includes the late Colin Clive, Mae Clarke and John Boles. The horror bill will start tomorrow afternoon at the Broadway and continue through Saturday.

ORANGE FILES BIG CLAIM WITH COUNTY

The City of Orange today filed with the county supervisors a claim of $10,655 against the county, for use of the Orange outfall sewer line by the county hospital over a period of 14 years.

The claim must first be submitted to the supervisors and rejected, before the city has legal grounds for bringing suit.

County hospital sewage facilities were hooked up with the Orange outfall line in 1924, it is asserted. Not until about two years ago did the city officials learn of the connection, it is said. Now they are demanding payment by the county for the service.

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS

SALISBURY, Md.—The elections are going to give some comfort to the Republicans and a little regret to the Third New Dealers, but will it be enough to turn Mr. Roosevelt in another direction?

Out in Ohio, realists on both sides told me that nothing but a perfect flood of WPA and other "money for money" can save Senator Bulkley. It seems to be generally agreed that Pennsylvania is lost. Wisconsin doesn't look well. New York will be a contest and farmers everywhere are stirring uneasily.

But granting all this and a good deal more, as long as the money holds out the Third New Deal probably could if it will, still keep business in a St. Vitus dance of apprehension and employment stagnant.

Surely Congress will not jump as fast as before. The purge that failed lost its expected disciplinary effect on all Senators. As for the intended purges, they are coming back to what Secretary Swanson used to call the "six-year pulse." They don't have to run again until 1944. Some of them are determined to fight for their principles and especially to oppose the "elimination committee" — Hopkins, Corcoran, Cohen, and their clique of unofficial assistant Presidents.

This doesn't mean that there will be no more crack-pot policies and half-baked experiments. But it does mean that they will come harder and that, if they are jammed through on Tommy Corcoran's strategy—"hit 'em in the jugular"—there will be more bitterness, resentment and rebellion than ever. Mr. Hopkins is also now ferociously of the jugular school of thought. He is defiantly saying that the policy is "spend and spend and spend" and—to get the money—"tax and tax and tax."

These "jugal" gentlemen came into their own right after the 1936 elections. None of them took the hustings to help the stupendous majority or hinted their purpose before election. It is not their way to work in the open. But they were the first to say: "Now we have a mandate." It was they who cooked up the astonishing one-man government legislative program of 1937 and they who shoved party leaders aside and undertook to burn-rush it through Congress by bulldozing Senators and Representatives.

Without exaggeration, it was a tragedy. With the enthusiastic majority that had elected Mr. Roosevelt, he had an "era of good feeling" on his doorstep. By dealing as he so well knows how to deal, pleasantly and personally, with responsible Congressional leaders, he could have had any legislation within reason that he wanted—and had it with good will.

Business had learned its lesson. It would have gone with him almost any distance. In such an atmosphere in Congress and industry, he could have healed the breach in labor, brought it and industry into much closer relations and probably could have won recovery.

But immediately after his election he enrolled with the jugular boys. Whenever he saw a pair of ears, he slapped them down. His program almost completely stalled. The only principal part of it which he got as dictated, the Agriculture Act, is failing. The unsuccessful purge has split his following if not his party.

On the advice of his jugular-hitting janizari, he battered business, battered his own friends, battered the taxpayers and, if he didn't better anguished labor, he did little to help it. For two more years his recovery efforts have failed and the country's revenue and debt situation is much worse than ever. His whole course since 1937 is a mess and the cause is apparent.

The President is not naturally a jugular-hitter. He is more of a smoothie and a sweetie. It was wrong to dress him up like a gladiator. What this movie needs is a new scenario and a new staff of directors. Will rebuffs in coming elections be severe enough to produce that result? Probably not.

Pair Rescued After Spending 48 Hours Seeking Escape From Cave

ADA, Okla., Oct. 11.—(UP)—Hugh Glenn Munroe, 17, and Thurman K. Treadwell, 18, rescued unharmed from an Arbuckle mountain cave in which they had been lost nearly 48 hours trying to make their way out, said today.

Propped up in bed at the home of his mother, Munroe told about the hunt for frogs with his friend Treadwell which almost ended disastrously. They were found early today in the inky blackness of the cave. Both are students at East Central State Teachers College, where Treadwell's father is head of the extension department.

"Did Some Praying"
"In fact," Munroe said, "we both did some praying. We had to stand up to do it, though, instead of kneeling, because there was water all around us, and let me tell you, that water was mighty cold."

"Thurman wanted some frogs for his biology class at Ada Teachers' College," Munroe said, "I went along just for fun, if you can imagine that."

"We went into the Arbuckle mountains because Thurman had been in that area with the boy scouts. We saw this cave and decided to go into it. It was the scariest decision we ever made."

"We removed our clothes, put on our bathing suits and went in. It was small and we had to go in on our hands and knees. We had a flashlight and it showed a slanting chamber ahead of us."

Find Big Pool
"Not far inside the cave was a big pool of water. We started across. We swam and waded for a long time. We weren't having so much fun by that time, but we grinned at each other anyway. Then the flashlight went out."

"It was so dark we barely could see the shape of each other. We went on across the water, thinking we could get our bearings. Soon we were lost."

"We came to a pool of water seven times. I don't know if it was the same pool or seven different ones."

"By that time we were mighty scared. I kept trying to crawl up on the side of the cavern to find a ledge. Every time I fell back down. Pretty soon, Thurman asked: 'Isn't this kind of a bad time for

Mooney Raps Court Ruling

"sincerity of the offer." He said that even though Lewis were to retire as chairman of the CIO, "He could still pull the strings" and still "head the miners which are the financial angels of the CIO."

Edward Flore, president of the hotel and restaurant workers, said "I wish Lewis would quit. If he would, we could have peace in 90 days. I don't see why we should sacrifice Green, head of a big organization, to Lewis, ruler of one that exists largely on paper."

Green Amused
G. M. Gugnai, seventh vice-president and a member of the peace committee whose efforts were shattered by Lewis in Washington to grant him an immediate public hearing and to make a decision on an application for immediate pardon prior to the Nov. 8 general election.

"You have resorted to the time-worn political subterfuge of declining to act on the grounds that the case is still pending in the courts," Mooney said. "You are hereby notified by me that all court actions in my behalf are now concluded and no other actions are contemplated, and I now not only insist but demand that this outrageous procrastination be ended."

Long Battle
Merriam is one of six governors, all Republicans, who have been asked to set Mooney free. Several refused outright and others failed to take action on plans. The case has been fought through all the courts, at last winding up with yesterday's Supreme Court decision.

Finerty with George Davis, another Mooney lawyer, talked of instituting an original action for a writ of habeas corpus similar to that turned down by the California state supreme court last year. Mooney's wife to Finerty, however, disclosed he was "absolutely opposed" to filing any other court actions. Mooney said the Supreme Court decision was "monstrously unjust" and "branded the court as a bulwark of the predatory corporation anti-labor interests of America."

Backs Olson
His opposition to further court action was taken to indicate that the now gray-haired, 55-year-old prisoner was basing his hopes for freedom on a pardon from Culbert L. Olson, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, in the event Olson is elected.

Olson was Mooney's choice for governor on the Democratic primary ticket and has been quoted as saying he would free Mooney if elected.

Falsely Promises
"The basic fallacy in all these plans is that they rest on the mistaken assumption that spending of the pensions would increase the speed with which money would circulate, and that this increased speed itself would raise the nation's purchasing power and increase the demand for goods and services."

Pension plans cannot create new purchasing power. They can only divert it from the younger or productive part of the population to the elderly."

14 Dead In Forest Fire

In Minnesota at least four persons were missing. William and Noah La Belle reportedly had gone to the fire lines leaving their families in their homes. As the fire crept nearer, their wives and children sought to escape and were trapped.

Constable David Hamilton of the Ontario police said the bodies were found only a few feet apart. He said the women had sought to shield their children beneath their own bodies.

U. S. GROWS FOURTH OF ENTIRE ORANGE MART

CALIFORNIA IS FAR IN LEAD

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 11.—(UP)—Out of a total world production of 200,000,000 boxes of oranges annually, the United States is now producing slightly more than one-fourth of this amount, a survey of the orange industry by the University of California reveals.

Oranges, it is pointed out, are produced on all five of the continents but because of climatic requirements, their growth is restricted to the tropical semi-tropical and sub-tropical countries.

62 Per Cent Locally
Approximately 97 per cent of the more than 50,000,000 boxes produced annually in the United States are from California and Florida, the former producing 62 per cent of the total and the latter 35 per cent. Texas, Arizona, Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi are the other orange producing states.

In California, oranges are produced on approximately 46,000 farms, comprising 238,000 acres of orange trees in more than 30 counties.

Consumption Uptrend
The survey said that consumption of oranges in the United States has increased steadily with the rise in production. During the decade following 1925 the consumption increased from 19 to 26 pounds per capita.

On the other hand, the consumption of other fresh fruits decreased on a per capita basis. Apples, especially, appear to be losing ground to oranges, the survey said.

The Hawaiian Clippers have made more than 200 trans-Pacific flights to date with no accidents of any kind.

FIRE PROGRAMS IN FULL SWING

Eighteen talking motion picture shows and 18 demonstrations by Santa Ana firemen under direction of Fire Chief Luxembourg are being given this week at elementary schools, the two junior high schools and at the Parochial school, Fire Marshal Frank Corey reported today.

The shows and demonstrations are being given in connection with the nation-wide celebration of fire prevention week.

Educational Films
"Sounding the Alarm," the picture obtained in Los Angeles, is given in connection with demonstrations showing the improper use of fuses and wiring, improper use of gasoline, and many other safety points. For several days this week, a picture short showing the method of dry cleaning will be presented at local theaters, Corey said.

The men putting on the demonstration in the schools under the chief's direction include Assistant Chief John Garthe, Fire Marshal Corey, Engineer Everett Skaggs, Engineer Dave Smith and Firemen Paul Reynolds, Sam Pink and Bill Kintz. Reynolds painted all of the fire safety posters while Skaggs made all of the equipment used in the demonstrations.

"Be a Fireman"
Fire Marshal Corey advised Santa Ana residents today, "You don't have to wear a uniform and live at the fire station. The most successful firemen today are those who prevent fires." He pointed out that more than 75 per cent of the loss of life from fire is in dwellings.

A partial list of fire hazards to be avoided also was presented by the fire marshal as follows: Oil, grease, oily rags in garages; old clothes, paper in corners, boxes; electric iron without plate beneath; gas range with improper vent or leaky valve; dangerous Christmas tree ornaments.

Predictions for the immediate flying future are 100-ton flying boats crossing the Atlantic in 20 hours. It is expected that they will be too large for manual control by the pilot and will require mechanically operated controls.

Recommendations of the bid award for the new 1,800 foot pier, expected at last night's adjourned session of the Seal Beach city council when bids from seven contractors were opened, will be delayed until Councilmen Fred Miller and Eddie Kupferle, both absent last night because of illness, are able to meet with the body in special session.

Exceeding the original estimate and pier bond issue of $101,500, in every case, the bids ranged from $103,750, submitted by the Anasco Construction Co., Long Beach, to $127,000, submitted by Morrison-Knudsen, Los Angeles.

SHORT SHORT SPORT STORIES

"As a sentimental gesture," writes Braven Dyer in The Times, "Coach Howard Jones may start Angie Peccianti at fullback (against Washington State Saturday)." It was in the Washington State game two years ago that Angie received the leg injury that kept him on the shelf until this season. . . . How touching, Braven. Have you seen my operation.

On Friday, Santa Ana high school plays its third straight football game at the Municipal Bowl (instead of at Clayton field). Real Reason: Officials are dubious about the structure of the ancient, antiquated bleachers at the high school, prefer to book their games into the city's stadium rather than take unnecessary chances of a disaster. . . . Wisely, they figure 10 per cent is cheap protection.

"Gil Kuhn (of Placentia) who was Trojan captain in 1936, is coaching Glendale's junior college football team," writes Ted Randolph of Glendale. "He thinks so much of the Howard Jones system that he uses the Notre Dame system."

Mebbe so, Mr. Randolph, but if Mr. Jones' Trojan knock over California, Stanford, Washington and Oregon and go into the Rose Bowl you'll see Mr. Kuhn and many another dissenter jumping back on the bandwagon. . . . Nothing succeeds like success and Coach Jones will win again just as soon as his material is competent, which, I suspect, is now.

A football coach is just as good or just as bad as his material.

Harry Olson, North Sycamore street barber is speeding eastward to watch his beloved Minnesota Gophers play Michigan Saturday at Minneapolis. Vacationing for the first time in 10 years, Olson will visit relatives in Chicago, Red Wing, Minn. and Devils Lake, N. D. He'll return on the Canadian Pacific, stop off at Banff, Vancouver, Victoria. He's scheduled two full days of golf at Victoria. Olson will be gone four weeks.

Riverside Jaycee is justly proud of the coaching accomplishments of tall, spare Jesse Mortensen who has a better record even than Santa Ana's Bill Cook. . . . Mortensen began the present season with 36 victories, 10 defeats and two ties over a period of eight years for a winning percentage of .71. Cook started his 12th season with 67 wins and 34 losses for an average of .663.

Chief reasons for Mortensen's high average is the 15 consecutive conference victories the Hill-Mortensen machines ran up beginning in 1930. Riverside has battled .667 the past five years and only .500 since 1935 as competition has become tougher and tougher.

Chaffey, Fullerton and San Bernardino have treated "Mort" teams the kindest. In 21 meetings with Panther, Yellowjacket and Indian representations Riverside has emerged with a record of 18 triumphs, one tie and two defeats. Pomona and Citrus have been outclassed six games to two but Santa Ana is the jinx. The pesky Dons have won five and tied one of its eight games.

FULLERTON DEFEATS S. A. TENNIS TEAM

Handicapped by the absence of several of their ranking players, Santa Ana's Tennis club team dropped 10-4 inter-city tournament to Fullerton. The matches were played at Fullerton as a tuneup for the approaching series of Citrus Belt league events. The summary:

Men's singles: Pike (F) defeated Ward (SA) 6-1, 6-2; Berryman (F) (F) d. Heath (SA) 6-2, 6-1; Minogue (F) d. Heath (SA) 6-2, 6-1; Lampman (F) d. Knight (SA) 6-2, 6-1; Stevenson (F) d. Ranney (SA) 6-2, 6-1; Conger (F) d. Evans (SA) 6-2, 6-1.

Women's singles: Hayes (F) d. M. Ward (SA) 6-1, 6-3; Van Boven (F) d. P. Miller (SA) 6-1, 6-2. Men's doubles: Myers and Cooke (F) d. Ritchey and Ranney (SA) 4-6, 6-4, 6-3; Boege and Pike (F) d. Heath and Minogue (SA) 6-0, 7-5. Mixed doubles: Lange and Berryman (F) d. Ward and Ward (SA) 6-4, 8-6; Lange and Boege (F) d. Williams and Knight (SA) 6-7, 6-2, 6-3.

Indian Battlers Too Hot For 'Local Boys'

Orange County Athletic club boxing fans who like their entertainment almost too close for comfort got their money's worth last night when a group of little Chief Warriors from Sherman Institute invaded the place and gave the "local boys" a merry workout.

John Freitas, Wilmington stevedore, saved the day in the main event by giving Indian Ray Padlock a lurching left jab that ended with a knockout in the fourth round.

Freitas, who likes the going rough, flattened the Indian's nose in the first and then proceeded to batter him around the ring like a punching bag. The Indian came back with a steaming flock of haymakers in the second but again was met with a barrage from Freitas that rocked him. Padlock tried to rush Freitas in the third but was out-boxed at every attempt and picked up a sizzling right to the boiler room and at the start of the fourth that took him through the ropes where he was counted out.

Jesse Jackson, tough little colored slugger, made a sucker out of Seal Beach. Wayne Penn Jackson hit Penn with more lefts and rights to the pass than Brazil has nuts, knocking the "local boy" out of the ring in the second and flooring him back strong in the third but was still so far outclassed it wasn't even funny.

"Tuffy" Allen of March Field took a close decision from Indian George Hill in a bloody fight. They slugged it out for four solid rounds. The decision was popular.

EIGHT TEAMS SIGN FOR 'Y' BASKET LEAGUE

It looks like an eight-team basketball league at the Y.M.C.A. this season. Although a number of other teams have been practicing in preparation for league play, only eight of them got their lists on yesterday, which had been agreed upon by the managers as the deadline.

The teams which have officially signed up are sponsored by the Southern Counties Gas company, Patterson's dairy, Irvine company, Famous Department store, Tree-sweet Products company, Karl's Shoe store, M. Elitiste company and Al's Lock and Key shop.

Managers of these teams meet Thursday night at 7:30 to arrange their playing schedule. It will be up to the committee of managers to determine whether any other teams may be admitted. It is general opinion of officials that a smaller league will produce better results in the even matching of the teams and the speeding up of play.

Competition opens next Monday night with a double-header. In general, the play will follow the same lines as last year, with a small admission charge at the door to help control attendance, and with two games played each evening, one at 7:30 and one at 8:30.

FOXX AND LOMBARDI OFFICIAL BAT KINGS

NEW YORK — (UP) — Jimmy Foxx, Boston first baseman, won the American league batting championship for the second time in his career, according to final unofficial averages released today.

Foxx beat out Taft Wright, rookie Washington outfielder, by one point with an average of .349, an improvement of 64 points over his last year's average of .285. Wright, in his first year up, hit .348 for 100 games. Another rookie outfielder, Jeff Heath of Cleveland, took third place with .340.

Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati catcher, won the National league crown with a mark of .342. He was the first Cincinnati player to take the championship since Eugene Hargrave won in 1926. Johnny Mize, St. Louis first baseman, overcame an early slump to ride home in the second lot with .337 while First Baseman Frank McCormick, also of Cincinnati, finished third with .327.

Robert ("Lefty") Grove, ancient Boston southpaw, was the American league pitcher with the best win and loss percentage. Although out with a "dead" arm most of the last month of the season, Grove won 14 games and lost four for a percentage of .778. "Red" Ruffing, New York Yankee right-hander, was right behind Grove with 21 victories and 7 defeats.

Bill Lee, Chicago righthander, had the best mark of the National leaguers. Lee won 22 and lost 9 for a .719 percentage and was closely followed by Bob Kilgus of Pittsburgh who notched 12 wins against 5 losses.

Leaders in other departments: Runs — Greenberg, Tigers, 143; Hits — Gant, 116.

Runs batted in — Foxx, Red Sox, 174; Medwick, Cardinals, 121. Hits — Vosmik, Red Sox, 202; McCormick, Cincinnati, 160.

Doubles — Cronin, Red Sox, 51; Medwick, Cardinals, 47. Triples — Heath, Cleveland, 18; Mize, Cardinals, 15. Homers — Greenberg, Detroit, 58; Ott, Giants, 36.

Stolen bases — Crossett, Yankees, 27; Hack, Chicago, 16.

VETS EXCUSED

Where formerly it was compulsory for everyone to report for training practice in the fall, Coach Ky Ebright has decided that only sophomores shall be so affected at California this year.

Football Faces

No, the young men aren't practicing to haunt houses. They're merely being caught in some of the teeth-baring, lip-curling poses which go with this business of trying to intimidate an opposing tackle. Carl Kaplanoff is an Ohio State tackle; Dan Smick, Michigan end; Alvin (Pig) Davis, Alabama fullback; Joe Beiner, Notre Dame tackle; Bronco Brunner, Tulane halfback; Larry Craig, South Carolina end; L. B. Hale, Texas Christian tackle.

BILL KILLEFER MAY BE NEXT DODGER PILOT

By HENRY McEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK — Putting the sport shot here and there: "Lippy Leo" Durocher and Bill Killefer have the inside track for that manager's job in Brooklyn. . . . Jimmy Wilson, ex-Phillie manager, reportedly has received a copy offer to become a major league coach. . . . North Carolina has a halfback named Jim (Sweet) La-laine. . . . Los Angeles may have two new Year's Day football games this year. . . . Loyola has rented the Coliseum for that day and reports insist Fordham will be invited to play if both elevens have fair teams. . . .

It cost the Yanks $175,000 to win the series in four straight. . . . That's the amount they must refund on tickets which were sold for a fifth game. . . . The Cubs were even more optimistic. . . . they peddled ducats for a sixth game in Chicago. . . . It's pretty hard to feel sorry for the Cubs when you realize each of them (except Charlie Grimm) received $4,674.37 for their work. . . . Best football story of the week-end: Art Rad-vilas of Columbia caught a pass against Army and then was knocked cold. . . . the trainer who worked over him had a tough job prying the ball loose from Rad-vilas' arms. . . . Coach Lou Little was pleased over that. . . . "Even when they take the count those kids still hang onto the ball," he commented. . . .

Paul Runyan, the P.G.A. champion, suggests that golf be played over a 12-hole course. . . . says from a physical standpoint, 12 holes are enough for a man past middle age and 24 for a younger man. . . . POMONA, SAN DIEGO COLLIDE SATURDAY

CLAREMONT — Pomona college's surprising Sageshens, who this week top the Southern California conference standings, travel south Saturday to tackle the San Diego State Aztecs in a game which may decide the title winner.

Saturday's battle will find Pomona relying on a razzle-dazzle style of attack featuring passes, Jarring Jack Merritt, captain and fullback, leads the Sageshen attack as one of the finest backs in the Southland.

Coach Leo Calland's Aztecs, who tied Whittier 6-6 last Saturday while Pomona was crushing its third straight opponent, La Verne, 25-0, will present a powerful running attack led by Morrie Siron and Glenn Zinsner.

Jack Ogden, general manager of the Orioles who announced the new contract, did not disclose its terms. It was understood reliably, however, that Hornsby will receive about $10,000 annually—a salary which would make him one of the highest paid managers in the minors.

GRESCHNER ON CAL. RAMBLERS

(By United Press)

BERKELEY — The University of California's football team was scheduled to hold its final scrimmage session before meeting U.C. L.A. Saturday.

Coach "Stub" Allison shook up the team, transferring Frank Lord, end, Bill Greschner, halfback and Tom Elmdorff, tackle, to the California Ramblers. Sam Chapman, last year's star visited the squad yesterday.

MORAGA — Pleased with his team's performance in defeating Loyola of Los Angeles, Coach "Slip" Madigan ordered his St. Mary's football team to "ease up" in practice today. Heavier practice is scheduled for later in the week in preparation for Sunday's game against Portland university at Kezar stadium in San Francisco.

LOS ANGELES — Battered Bruins began getting back into their suits today as U.C.L.A. pointed for Saturday's family squabble with California at Berkeley. John Frawley and Bill Overlin were out of the hospital recovering from slight concussions suffered in the Washington game. "Chuck" Pennebaker, Merle Harris and Hal Hirschson were expected to return to the field today.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY — Coach "Tiny" Thornhill said today that the Stanford offense might be switched around with lighter men in the backfield and more "beef" on the line when his squad plays Oregon Saturday. He said Hampton, Paul's weight and speed at guard would help protect lighter backfield men.

SANTA CLARA — Coach "Buck" Shaw laid stress on his Santa Clara Broncos' passing attack today as the team went through practice in preparation for what is believed will be an easy game this week against the University of Arizona.

'Spud' Chandler, Wes Ferrell Have Operation

NEW YORK — (UP) — "Spud" Chandler and Wesley Ferrell, New York Yankee pitchers, entered St. Elizabeth's hospital today for elbow operations.

Both have chipped bones in their elbows. Chandler, who won 14 and lost four, was inactive during the closing weeks of the season and did not participate in the Yanks' world series victory over Chicago.

Ferrell, who came to the Yanks after being made a free agent by Washington in the final stages of the campaign, won only one game for his new club.

SACRAMENTO — Ancil Hoffman said today that Mike Jacobs, New York fight promoter, is due here tonight to discuss the future of Max Baer, former world's heavyweight champion, who has announced he is training for a comeback.

NARDUCCI NEW 'FIND': SAINTS BATTLE ORANGE

"With all these cripples we are going to have a tough time." Coach Bill Cook said today in commenting on Santa Ana Jaycee's Friday night game at Glendora with Citrus, first Eastern conference test for the Dons.

Both Lynn Arnett and Larry Monroy are in unsteady condition from the bruising struggle with the U. C. L. A. Frosh. Don Borden is the only regular quarterback, who is in ship-shape to play against the Owls.

Yesterday the Dons were sent through a strenuous scrimmage. Coach Cook had two elevens going at full speed for nearly three hours.

Surprise performer of the work-out was Romolo Narducci, freshman from Roundup, Mont., who checked out a suit after having turned in his equipment last week. All Narducci did when he got in the "game" was pace his white-jerseyed teammates to two touchdowns over a team composed almost exclusively of first string men. Flashing blazing speed and terrific leg drive, Narducci put the Whites in scoring territory once, where they crossed up the defense and passed for a score on fourth down. Later Narducci galloped 30 yards to the goal.

"If Narducci can learn to block and play defense we certainly can use him," Coach Cook said.

Co-capt. Johnny Joseph is still the question mark of the Don team. Don medics believe that he will be ready to go against Citrus, but Cook still has his doubts and is not counting too heavily on the all-conference end. Joseph's return to the lineup would greatly strengthen the Dons defensively.

SAINTS TEST 'NEW TEAM' AGAINST ORANGE

Santa Ana hi's "new" football team gets something akin to a real test this afternoon in a scrimmage with Orange on Clayton field.

Coach Bill Foote made a number of changes in his lineup during yesterday's practice and what men he starts against Pomona Friday was to be decided largely on what happens in the informal workout with Coach Stewart White's Sunset leaguers.

Dick Brown, a 6-2, 175-pounder who has been laid up all season with leg trouble, gets a chance at left end. Bill was on the other wing, Bob Webb and Howard McMillan at tackle, Vernon Ashby and Bill Meyer at guard and Ralph Shallenberger at center. Meyer is a maverick tackle.

Captain Gene Hamaker returns to the lineup at left half, with Barney Robinson, erstwhile end, playing quarterback and Bob Musick at full. Ralph Barnes was stationed at right half yesterday but Wayne Piper returns to that spot today. He was favoring a bruised leg muscle yesterday.

Miss O. C. Power of the University of Chicago is the only woman football ticket manager in the Western conference.

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON (Sports Editor, NEA Service)

CHICAGO — Major league baseball's No. 1 freshman swept the Yankees into the world series. His name is Joe Gordon.

Tris Speaker nominates Jeff Heath as the best peagreen of 1938. There are arguments in favor of Frank McCormick, Johnny Rizzo, Johnny Vander Meer, Ken Keltner, Bob Kilgus and Jim Bagby.

But you say off on results, and the answer is that Gordon, in his third year of professional baseball, made New York forget a truly great second baseman, Tony Lazzeri.

Gordon contributed more to the success of Col. Jacob Ruppert's club this season than any other member of the party. He was directly on the spot. All of the other candidates were swinging for the distinction of being the top beginner or pitching in place of a nobody. The all-powerful Yankees would not now be fighting for their third consecutive world championship had not Gordon stood up 100 per cent in the most important position in the lineup.

I got a chuckle with Ed Barrow when a baseball writer asked him about a rumored swap—Jie Di-Maggio, for Hank Greenberg. "I wouldn't trade Di-Maggio for 10 Greenbergs," said Barrow, wily general manager of the greatest baseball organization in the history of the professional game.

GORDON RATED ALONG WITH DIMAGGIO

And then aside to me: "And I'm not certain that I would trade a Gordon for a Di-Maggio." A Gordon is the finest all-around ball player alive. The clearest proof of this is that the Rifles ran second until he arrived. This is his third year and his third world series.

The difference between Di-Maggio and Gordon lies in their positions. A capable centerfielder is inval-

Meet The Dons!

Almost as broad as he is tall, Edwin (Red) Becker weighs 210 pounds and rates as one of Santa Ana Jaycee's first string tackles. The husky Santa Diegoan is 19, wears jersey No. 19. Last year he was Southern California high school champion in the shot put ring, and runner-up for State prep honors with a record of 54 feet.

COLUMBIA NEW GRID THREAT

By HENRY SUPER (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK — Columbia and Pennsylvania, whose teams were severely pushed around last year, shaped up today as strong contenders for eastern football honors.

Both owe their success to star halfbacks who in two games each have led the victory marches. Columbia has Sid Luckman, who has been bidding a long time for All-America honors and looks like he might make it this year. Pennsylvania's ace is Francis Reagan, a sophomore triple-threat.

Columbia, which pulled out a last minute 20-18 victory over Army last week, tackles Colgate Saturday while Penn, which handed Yale its first shutout in years, takes on Princeton. On October 22, those teams will clash at Philadelphia in a game which should be one of the best in the country that day.

Pittsburgh, Dartmouth and Cornell also are up near the top, while Fordham, one of the powers last year, meets its first serious opposition this week in Purdue.

Out of the Dartmouth-Cornell should come one clear cut stand-out team because before the season ends all will have played at least two of the other.

Pittsburgh tackles Fordham later in the year. Pitt, which scored its third straight victory of the year in subduing Duquesne, this week plays Wisconsin at Madison. Dartmouth plays Brown and should remain undefeated. Cornell faces Syracuse.

Harvard meets Army and Yale plays Navy and it looks like a great day for the future generals and admirals.

T. C. U. RATED NO. 1

LOS ANGELES — (UP) — Texas Christian with a rating of 19 stood first today in Statistician Deke Hougate's rating of the nation's football teams for the season so far.

Duke, Minnesota and Pittsburgh were next with 18.

CHICAGO — Major league baseball's No. 1 freshman swept the Yankees into the world series. His name is Joe Gordon.

Tris Speaker nominates Jeff Heath as the best peagreen of 1938. There are arguments in favor of Frank McCormick, Johnny Rizzo, Johnny Vander Meer, Ken Keltner, Bob Kilgus and Jim Bagby.

OVER IT'S GORDON

Heath of Cleveland hit .343, only four points less than the American league batting champion, Jimmy Foxx.

Vander Meer of the Reds was the first pitcher in 100 years of baseball who pitched successive no-hit, no-run games.

DEAN, BRYANT, LEE AND HACK SURE OF JOBS

CHICAGO — (UP) — "Gabby" Hartnett, catcher-manager of the National league champion Cubs, placed all but four members of his team on the block today in preparation for a selling, buying and trading spree which may outdo any in baseball history.

It is bitterly disappointed because the team failed to win at least one of the world series games from the New York Yankees. He said he wants a ball team with more power and is determined to get it.

He had hardly finished acknowledging the cheers of fans who greeted the team on its return from New York yesterday when he announced that every player except Pitchers "Dizzy" Dean, Bill Lee and Clay Bryant and Third Baseman Stan Hack will be offered on the winter trade mart.

Only Four Sure of Jobs

"There'll be a shakeup," he said. "You can bet on that. Dean, Lee, Bryant and Hack are the only guys on this club who are sure of their jobs. As for the rest, I'll trade, sell or get rid of any or all of them. I want a ball club next year!"

He declined to name the players he would seek in trades or purchases but reports said he has his eye on Joe Medwick, St. Louis Cardinals' left fielder, as his first choice, and among others, Hank Leiber, center fielder for the New York Giants.

He said he would confer with Owner Phil K. Wrigley before he starts working on plans for next year. Wrigley is in New York and is not due to return for a week or 10 days.

Among the first slated to get the axe, if Hartnett can negotiate it, are Pitchers "Tex" Carleton and Larry French and Outfielders Frank Demaree and Carl Reynolds. Reynolds failed to get a hit in the world series.

Hartnett May Be Manager

Captain and Second Baseman Billy Herman, who had a mediocre year and then faltered in the world series, possibly may wind up as a major league manager. His name has been mentioned frequently in connection with openings on the Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Shortstop Bill Judges, First Baseman "Rip" Collins and Second-String Catcher Ken O'Dea have been mentioned as possible trading material. What will happen to men like Outfielders Joe Marty, Phil Cavaretta and Augie Galan, Pitcher Charlie Root and others including Tony Lazzeri, remains to be seen.

Rumors linking Demaree with a trade have been heard for many months. Last winter, the Pittsburgh Pirates offered Shortstop "Arky" Vaughan, Outfielder Woody Jensen and a pitcher for Demaree and Judges, but the Cubs rejected the proposal. Since then Demaree has had one of his worst years.

Of the four sure of their jobs, Hack is the best third baseman in the National league, possibly both leagues; Lee and Bryant between them won 41 games for the Cubs and Dean represents too great an investment to be traded.

H. B. COUNCIL TO GET TIDELAND OFFER

SPEAKER ASKS CHAMBER HELP

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 11.—The Southwest Exploration company, holder of a state contract to drill 88 wells into the tidelands west of Twenty-third street, is prepared to make one more royalty offer to the city in order to avoid court action with the city of Huntington Beach, according to E. E. Pyle, an official of the Hancock Oil company, one of the owners of the Southwest company, in a talk with the chamber of commerce meeting last night. Without indicating the nature of the proposition, he said it would be given to the city council at once.

The speaker asked for the help of business men and chamber members in reaching a settlement with the city. C. G. Green, secretary of the company, accompanied Pyle to the meeting.

Pyle traced the history of the tideland controversies from the company's point of view since that company entered the fight. He told of the different attempts to legally drill the tideland oil pool, of the two state-wide campaigns, both defeated, first on proposition No. 11 in the general election of 1932 and again the state park bill in 1936. He spoke of several attempts to get permissive legislation through the state legislature, of the passing of both houses of three bills, two of which were vetoed, one by Governor Merriam and the other by Governor Rolph.

Pyle stated that they did not think that Huntington Beach had any legal right to any return from the tidelands but that the city did have a moral right, so the company officials had offered the city council $20 for every $1000 received by the state, which was not accepted by the council.

DRUNK DRIVING IS STUDIED BY GROUP

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—(UP)—A person drinking intoxicants is unfit to drive an automobile when he has 0.15 per cent of alcohol in his blood, a national safety council committee reported today.

The average person would accumulate that amount, the committee said, by consuming eight to 10 ounces of whiskey.

The committee submitted its report to approximately 10,000 specialists in accident prevention at the council's 25th annual congress.

Traffic Hazard

The report said intoxication is one of the most serious of present day traffic safety problems and urged uniform clarification of the phrase, "under the influence of alcohol," as one of the most pressing legal problems in the conviction of drunken drivers. The committee also found that:

A person is 10 times as likely to be involved in an accident when the blood-alcohol concentration reaches 0.15 per cent.

Half the drivers on the highway at 3 a. m. have been drinking; at 5 a. m. almost every driver involved in a personal injury accident has been drinking.

When the blood-alcohol concentration is below 0.07 per cent by weight the driver should be exonerated from being under the influence of alcohol; when it is 0.15 or over there should be no doubt about it.

Stages Listed

From there the report said, intoxication progresses in these stages:

Stimulation—as high as 21 per cent. Decreased inhibitions, slight incoordination and emotional instability.

Confusion—18 to 30 per cent. Disturbance of sensation, decreased pain sense, staggering gait and slurred speech.

Stupor—27 to 39 per cent. Marked stimuli decrease and approaching paralysis.

Coma—38 to 48 per cent. Complete unconsciousness.

Clark To Address Bourbons Soon

Making his first appearance in Orange county since election as chairman of the state central committee, John G. Clark, Long Beach, will be the principal speaker at 8 p. m. Thursday at a meeting of the Orange County Assembly of Democrats.

Plans for the meeting were announced today by H. C. Head, chairman of the organization. The meeting will be held in Junior college hall, Tenth and Main streets, Santa Ana, Head said.

In addition to Clark, who will discuss the Democratic platform and party plans, Tony Entenza, one of Southern California's most eloquent speakers, will be on the program. Head will preside as chairman and introduce the speakers.

OFFICERS SEEK VANDAL

Sheriff's officers today still were hunting for the thief who stole a dozen first class letters from the Santa Ana Country club ransacked mail-box Saturday, ransacked them and tossed the envelopes on the club golf course. Deputy Sheriff R. R. Lutes obtained several good fingerprints. It is believed a youth committed the offense. The postal inspector will begin work on the case at once.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ACTS TO ZONE RESIDENTIAL AREA

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 11.—In an effort to aid applicants for F.H.A. loans, the chamber of commerce directors last night voted to ask the city council to have the city attorney draft a petition zoning section of the city. The petition will be circulated in the designated district.

The petition will designate the zone as that portion of the city bounded by Lake street on the east, by Twelfth street on the north and Pal avenue on the west and south.

The home building committee of the chamber of commerce consists of H. E. Hampton, D. W. Huston, Sam Clapp and W. H. Gallienne. Difficulty has been encountered in securing F.H.A. loans because of lack of restrictions against oil drilling, it was reported.

GLORIA CHIAPINELLI AGAIN TO PLAY IN LOCAL CONCERT

Local audiences will have the opportunity of welcoming back Gloria Chiapinelli, heard last December as guest artist with the federal orchestra, when the federal unit presents the second concert in its autumn series at the high school auditorium, Thursday evening, October 20.

Miss Chiapinelli, 14-year-old Long Beach violinist, plays compositions usually found only on the repertoire of adult violinists, with a maturity that belies her years. She has won an ardent following throughout Southern California since her recital debut at the age of nine.

Eckles Enthusiastic

Leon Eckles, well known conductor of the orchestra, is enthusiastic in his appraisal of her talent, predicting a brilliant future for her. "Gloria's fine technique and virtuoso-like artistry are the marvel of all who hear her," he announced. "The juvenile artist will play Saint-Saens' Concerto No. 3 in B Minor—a prime favorite with violinists as it offers the cultured musician every opportunity for the exhibition of his skill."

The orchestra program will stress Tchaikovsky's 5th Symphony in response to numerous requests from friends and patrons of the orchestra for "more Tchaikovsky." The orchestra is also to play Mouskorsky's "A Night on Bare Mountain." This composition describes at Witches' Sabbath in which Satan was paid homage with wild revelry according to ancient and modern writers on Witchcraft.

GIRL, 12, SOUGHT BY POLICE IN S. A.

Twelve-year-old Viola Israel of Inglewood whose plan to be the child bride of her 21-year-old Polish sweetheart, Stanley Czech, an ice cream peddler, went awry yesterday, was sought here by Santa Ana police yesterday afternoon at request of Sheriff E. W. Biscailuz of Los Angeles county.

However, the sheriff's message was cancelled shortly afterward when the couple was traced to a Los Angeles rooming house where they had stayed over-night and planned a freight train trip to Chicago for the marriage ceremony.

Many Join in Hunt

The girl's disappearance sent the town of Inglewood scouring the brush lands of the Baldwin hills yesterday, fearful that she might be the victim of another Albert Dyer. Over a hundred Legionnaires, the Santa Monica mounted patrol, the Los Angeles sheriff's squadron of 15 planes, the sheriff's mounted posse and the Los Angeles police homicide squad joined forces for the search.

When apprehended, Viola, who looks 18, sobbed and cried as she was taken to juvenile home.

Five Per Cent Beer Favored

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 11.—(UP)—Directors of the Western States Beverage Association today were on record in favor of five per cent alcoholic content of draught beer in place of the present 3.2 per cent.

Dispensers suffer a considerable loss with low alcoholic content beer because of deterioration in taste, it was claimed. A five per cent beer also would avoid the present expense of separating the 3.2 per cent draught beer from bottled beer, it was said.

FAMOUS BASSO TO OPEN SERIES

The first musical event in the Orange County Concert Series to be held this season at Santa Ana high school auditorium will be an evening of songs and arias by the international noted Italian basso Ezio Pinza from the Metropolitan Opera company, New York, Monday evening, October 17.

C. L. Pritchard, chairman of directors, and Mrs. Cecile Froese Willett, president of the Santa Ana Musical Arts club, are happy about the fact that their committees were able to enlist over one thousand subscribers for these highly cultural, educational, and artistic events which will be presented during the coming winter season.

Pinza burst upon the New York music world in the season of 1926. Seldom has a new singer received such an ovation. Since that time he has been one of the chief favorites of the New York opera, and his subsequent concert appearances have been the signal for further success.

A Roman by birth, Pinza revealed his musical talents at an early age, but the ambition of his parents was to make of him a civil engineer. He was put to school at Ravenna, but finally gaining his own point, he went to Bologna to study at the conservatory. After many appearances in Rome and other Italian music centers he went to La Scala, Milan, where he sang for three years under the direction of Toscanini.

Here Gatti-Casazza of the Metropolitan Opera company heard him and persuaded him to come to the United States. Since his first appearance here, he has been considered generally the leading basso of the Metropolitan.

Other attractions scheduled for the coming season include Lincoln Kirstein's Ballet Caravan, November 13; Kathryn Meisle, contralto of the Metropolitan, February 10; Casadesu, French pianist, March 14; and Nino Martini, Italian tenor, April 21.

Season and single ticket sale at Brown's book store, Santa Ana.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS URGE "FIFTY-FRIDAY DOLE" PLAN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11.—(Special).—"Fifty dollars every Friday for folks under 50"—the "Fifty-fifty scheme," will be proposed as an amendment to the "Thirty Warrants Every Thursday" pension plan by students at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Using "Grade A" milk bottle tops instead of warrants, the scheme will be inaugurated today by Bob Schiller, influential senior, and Bill Brown, editor of the Daily Bruin, student publication.

The plan is designed by Schiller and Brown for college students, whom they feel are being slighted by the pension only for citizens over 50 years of age.

Purpose Explained "Under our plan life begins at zero," the student said. "Since the idea of $30 per week for people over 50 is to create wide-spread prosperity, we propose, using the same logic and theory, to give $50 a week to people of 30 to create still more prosperity.

"This is economically sound because it multiplies out to the same answer (fifty times thirty equals thirty times fifty.) We further propose to give the same amount to people under 30 or over 30—the upper limit being 50 years, the lower limit zero. We have not multiplied this out yet, but we're working on it."

Student Arguments Reasons cited for the fifty-fifty pension plan are:

(1) Younger people (0 to 50) have occasion to spend more money than older people.
(2) There will be so much prosperity under the $30 a week plan that the State will be able to afford the pension to those under 50. It will give, to those under 50, something to do while waiting to become 50 years of age. It might be called a dress rehearsal.
(3) It is more democratic to give everybody pensions than to give pensions to a few. This is the "equal protection" clause of the Constitution, and is economically sound.

Made Of Operation How will the new plan operate?

Weekly payments will be paid with the bottle tops and will be in denominations of $1 each. It is explained that these "warrants" will be self-liquidating in that every time one changes hands a penny must be paid to the receiver, who, upon receipt of penny will punch a hole in the bottle top. Thus by the time the bottle top has changed hands 100 times it will have done away with itself, as well as paid for itself.

"In other words," Schiller explained, "after the bottle top has changed hands 100 times, and since the top has a capacity of only 100 punches, there will be nothing left but holes, which will not be redeemable in California."

Mezzanine for State The bottle tops will be punched with special punches obtained solely through originators of the plan at exorbitant prices. The founders are counting on the plan to attract all the citizens of the country to California.

"That is just what we want,"

NEW CHEVROLET TO MAKE DEBUT SOON

Word has been received by B. J. MacMullen, local Chevrolet dealer, that the new 1939 Chevrolet cars will be introduced locally and nationally on Saturday, October 22. Unusual interest surrounds the introduction of the new Chevrolet cars. They will be considerably larger and present an entirely new, modern streamlined appearance. It has also been indicated that Chevrolet will feature a new development of exceptional appeal to the driver. MacMullen, who stated that he was not in a position at this time to confirm any information about the new Chevrolet cars, expects to attend a factory-conducted meeting at Los Angeles, in the near future, at which time the new cars will be shown to all Chevrolet dealers in this region.

MacMullen expects quite a fall up-turn in new car sales, a fact that has already been indicated by the number of orders that have been placed for new 1939 Chevrolet models by people who want to be sure of early delivery.

Young People In Annual Banquet

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 11.—More than 50 young people of the First Methodist church gathered for the annual banquet in the social hall of the church recently. Members of the high school group were in charge, the affair being in the form of a welcome to the freshmen. Miss Sadie Campi, fourth vice president, was general chairman.

Mrs. Phyllis Schroff, assisted by several of the mothers, arranged the dinner, the Mrs. Emmett Smith in charge of the decorations, which consisted of a red and white theme in the tapers and streamers over head. The Epworth league symbol was stressed in the nut cups and place cards. Eighth grade girls waited on the tables.

David Sprinkle, president of the Epworth league, gave the address of welcome to the newcomers and freshmen. The musical program included group singing led by Raymond Holt, violin numbers by Irvin German and vocal selections by Rodney Arkley, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Irvine German.

"FOOLS RUSH IN" A Radio Talk By SHERIFF LOGAN JACKSON

My campaign for Sheriff is just beginning. I want to acknowledge my mistake. I have made. I had supposed that an honest and efficient administration would be reason for my reelection. I have been accused of being a poor politician and I guess I have to admit that it is true. I did not know the lengths to which the opposition would go to defeat an honest official.

I am not asking you to take my own word that you have an honest administration. Your own agents, seven successive grand juries, have put the stamp of your approval on that administration. It is only at the approach of election to examine the character of those who have raised the question.

I want you to ask yourself if, in your memory in Orange county politics, a campaign so vicious, so malevolent, so well organized, so well financed, and so false, has ever been waged against a public officer.

I have endured these attacks with patience in the hope that they would be recognized as the work of false and dishonest men. I have endured until patience ceases to be a virtue. I will endure no more.

Who are some of the people who want my opponent, Mr. Jess Elliott, to be sheriff. Are they the leaders of churches, of education, of industry? Are they the people who are concerned with your welfare and that of your children? Or are they the people who seek to conduct an illicit business, who want slot machines and gambling and houses of prostitution. Are they the people that I have suppressed and who hate me and want me out of office? You BET they are.

I ask you to make a simple test of whether I am right or wrong. I ask you to go or send someone to visit the beer joints and the slot machine joints, and the gambling joints and, if they like, the brothels, and find out who is the candidate for sheriff. I do not need to tell you what you will find out. I WILL tell you. You will find that they are for Jess Elliott. You will find that they are unanimous and that they are elated. They see the day at hand when they can take over Orange county.

I ask you to make another test. I ask you to examine the vote in the primary in those districts where local law enforcement is lax and where the gamblers have been able to establish their influence. I ask you to read the results in those districts. You will find that Jess Elliott was the favorite and that I was slaughtered. I ask you to determine what that means.

I ask you to look at the city of Santa Ana where I am accused of lack of cooperation with the police because I have "knocked over" slot machines and race track bookies. I ask you to find out who the leading liquor dealers are supporting. I will also tell you that. The two biggest dealers in Santa Ana are on the Elliott nominating petition and this is a matter of record.

I ask you who Chief Floyd Howard is supporting. Mr. Howard complains that I did not cooperate with him and he is right. Mr. Howard is under federal grand jury indictment on a lottery charge, and, brother, he is not supporting me. I knocked over the gambling outfits that he and Mr. Elliott permitted to run in their town and they don't like me. Remember this, that Jess Elliott is constable of Santa Ana township, he is a law enforcement officer,—yet I am compelled to go into his town and enforce the law and clean up his gambling mess. Do you understand why the gamblers don't like me, and why Mr. Elliott does not like me and why Mr. Howard does not like me? I do.

Has Jess Elliott said one single word in this campaign on the subject of gambling? Has he admitted that there is such a thing? Has he come out against it in words or in actions as I have? Has he ever taken any gambling equipment away from the gamblers as I have done? Has he ever repudiated the support of the gamblers? Can you begin to understand why the gambling joints and the beer joints, why every bar swipe and every slot machine profiteer are for Jess Elliott and savagely and bitterly against me?

Where do you suppose the money is coming from in this campaign to get me out of the gamblers' way in Orange county? Are the churches contributing it? You guess.

Now let us get around to the methods that have been employed to get me out of the gamblers' way. Let us see how they have sought to discredit me, to tear down my reputation for integrity, to make it appear that I am a crook instead of an honest officer. How have they done that?

They have not been above using the machinery of government in the effort. They have found unscrupulous tools in office. They have harassed me with charges brought just before election and which I have at all times been ready to meet. It is a time-worn political trick to make charges before election and drop them afterward. They dropped one suit. Why? The answer must be as obvious to you as it is to me.

What has there been about my conduct of the office and the handling of fees that has been different from that of any other sheriff in this county for forty years? How is it different from the way the thing is handled in twenty-six other counties in this state? Is it no different. If my handling of fees has been dishonest, then Sam Jernigan and every sheriff before him has been dishonest. But it has not been dishonest. As I have been advised it has been according to the plain letter of the law. Remember that, when it comes to a question of honesty, that Mr. N. E. West, the man most responsible for these charges, had to defend himself against charges brought by your grand jury! Remember it was not the sheriff who accused him, it was your grand jury.

And why do they accuse me of having $100,000 that belongs to the county? They know what my income from the county is. Your last grand jury told them. It is in the grand jury report and it is public property. You can read it. The grand jury report said my income from the county, from all sources, averaged $9,000.00 per year. Out of that has to come expenses for attorney's fees and automobile costs. The net to me is a good deal less. Mr. West knows that. He also knows that if the gamblers get control, the income of the sheriff's office can be any figure that the sheriff wants it to be. There would be enough to take care of all the boys. But the people of Orange county will still pay the bill.

Now let me get around to the matter of the pamphlet called "Fools Rush In." Does anybody doubt that there was an immediate and concerted effort when that pamphlet appeared to fix the blame on me? Why? I was not the only candidate given favorable mention in the pamphlet. Why did they not accuse Judge Ames? Why did they not accuse Elmer Guy? Why not Frank West? Why not Abbey Cruikshank? Why not Lambert? Why did two of the Elliott lawyer friends, one of them a dog track attorney, rush to the radio and point to the sheriff as responsible for the pamphlet?

I think that the reason was that this was a lawyer pamphlet, written by a lawyer, planned by a lawyer, and intended, by a lawyer, to discredit the sheriff's office. I think it was planned by lawyers who have, or hope to have, profitable relations with gamblers. This pamphlet is written in the style of a lawyer, not a good lawyer, but one accustomed to feed bromides and stock phrases to juries. This is clear in the discussion of the candidates for judge. Judge Ames "weighs evidence and interprets the law." Frank West is "a profound student of law," has a "fine judicial mind." Jim Tucker has "fine judicial mind." Jim Davis has a "judicial temperament." The judicial council asked Kenneth Morrison to handle the case of the People vs. Mills. Every candidate is weighed for judicial temperament. These are legal phrases, this is the viewpoint of a lawyer. Some other writer would describe the case of People vs. Mills as the frozen orange case. A lawyer would call it People vs. Mills.

What does this mean? Lawyers, lawyers at every turn, hooked up with interest hostile to me. Lawyers hooked up with interests that spend money like water for the privilege of breaking the law.

I maintain that this is a lawyer's job, this pamphlet, that it is a conspiracy of my enemies, in league with gamblers, to pin the responsibility on me.

I ask you to consider these facts and make your own deductions. I had nothing to do with the pamphlet, but somebody did, and you are entitled to know what other people know about it.

My deductions are that a gambling conspiracy to defeat me has been responsible for this entire campaign of falsehoods of political trickery, of dishonest publicity, and that its purpose is to turn Orange county over to the gamblers. You voters of this county are to decide whether this conspiracy shall succeed. Your stake in this election is greater than mine. You are to decide whether your children are to live in a community dominated by gamblers and by the vermin that attach to gamblers. I have protected you against such things. I do not think that Jess Elliott will. You must decide.

I have lived in this county for 36 years, and my integrity has been questioned only in this campaign. I ask you to keep that fact in mind.

I shall have more to say to you before the campaign is over. Thank you and good-night.

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 11.—Many commentators have said that Howard Hughes' motive in his recent round-the-world flight was selfish—that he did it to exploit an aviation picture he intends to produce. I thought so—and more than hinted my opinion—but I've been forced, since then, to change my ideas. I want to quote of Howard's closest friends and associates.

"Hughes dislikes being termed a rich man's son. When he came here years ago, he was advised against producing movies and refused the advice because, if he contented himself with carrying on the business he had inherited, he would be achieving nothing on his own. And for four years, with everyone deprecating his folly, he managed to turn out successful pictures. He made his world flight for the same purpose—achievement. Before he left, he ordered his old pictures—which were being reissued—to be taken off the market, simply because he was determined to remove every suspicion of commercialism from his great enterprise."

There you have a new picture of Howard Hughes, and one I choose to believe. It's a picture that fits the guy who said to the mayor of Los Angeles, when a reception was arranged in his honor: "I don't want a motorcycle escort. We'll drive along according to the traffic laws—like other people."

Jimmy Ellison's face is plenty red. A few years ago, with his acting career in a seemingly hopeless slump, he went into business with a chap named Hess—cleaning off vacant lots. They burned off the dead weeds for $2.50 a lot and averaged about $5 a day during the summer months. Yesterday, Jimmy—now a property owner—decided to burn the weeds on his own lots and scoffed at his wife's suggestion that he hire a professional. "I am a professional," he said, loftily—and applied the torch. Thirty minutes later the county fire patrolmen were fighting to get the blaze under control—and giving Mr. Ellison the lecture of his life. He didn't have a retort to make.

There's food for thought in the fate of the Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy one-reelers made several years ago by Warner Brothers. Bergen and his dummy were just another vaudeville act then, and the pictures were flops. But since Messrs. Bergen and McCarthy have become world famous, Warner Brothers have reissued the pictures. They're now smash hits wherever they play.

M-G-M's lavish new administration building is next door to a funeral parlor. The RKO studios adjoin a cemetery. Undoubtedly these are merely coincidences, but the fact remains that since the bankers have taken an active interest in their picture investments, executive careers are very, very short.

Had lunch with Eleanor Powell today and heard another of those anecdotes that could happen "only in Hollywood." Last evening, as she was driving home on one of the main boulevards in Beverly Hills, a car forced hers to the curb and out scrambled Eddie Buzzell, the ex-dance maestro who is directing "Honolulu." "Get to see you—look!" he shouted. "I've just worked out an idea for that dance routine we need in the picture. Watch!" And with that, he went into a dance step in the street, while Eleanor watched. "The amazing angle," she said, "is this: at least twenty-five cars passed while he was tapping in the street—and no one even bothered to stare!"

Because C. B. De Mille didn't believe that modern Cheyenne looks sufficiently "western," he is building his own frontier Cheyenne for "Union Pacific," as well as six miles of railroad tracks. And I wonder how many people will remember that it was a similar dissatisfaction on the part of the great C. B. that made Hollywood the film capital of the world. Years ago, when he came out from New York to make "The Squaw Man," De Mille and his troupe for Flagstaff, Arizona. But when they got there, C. B. was critical. "It doesn't look western enough," he ruled, "let's keep going." They did—and wound up in Hollywood—for keeps.

Bob Burns, as Scotch as his name, chanced to be at the United Airport when a dozen planes were about to take off for a flight over the city in connection with National Air Week. "Want to go along?" asked one of the field officials. Bob started to nod eager assent, then checked himself. "Any charge?" he demanded, suspiciously. Copyright, 1938, McNaught Syn., Inc.

NEW INTEREST URGED IN FIRES

"Did you ever visit one of our local fire department stations?" This question was asked today by John A. Henderson, director of the chamber of commerce who for many years has been interested in the program of Fire Prevention Week, as carried on under direction of the Santa Ana fire department and the chamber of commerce.

The week of October 9th to 15th is being observed throughout the United States as Fire Prevention Week. Henderson stated in this connection that often the safety of the lives of loved ones in our homes and the security of our property depend largely upon cooperation between the individual citizen and the fire department.

Educational Program
"This week the local fire department is carrying on an extensive educational program throughout the city schools," Henderson explained. "Later it is anticipated that similar programs will be presented to service clubs and other similar organizations through which it is hoped that the fire department can build closer cooperation in the event of an urgent need."

"Too many of us are apparently unconcerned about fire loss. We see the fire department racing to answer an alarm and as a result we have the false sense of security of saying to ourselves, 'fire certainly will not start in my house or place of business, yet if it should that is the firemen's problem.' While it is true that the fire department is employed to prevent and fight fires we are not relieved of the responsibility for causing them."

Urges New Interest
"It would be a wonderful thing if every citizen would plan at some time during the year to visit his nearest fire station, question the firemen about turning in an alarm, ask for suggestions regarding prevention of fires, the elimination of fire causes and special hazards."

"Citizens will find our firemen ready and willing to give them this necessary information. If each citizen would realize his responsibility to prevent fires and make his plans accordingly the terrific waste which results each year from unnecessary fires could rapidly be eliminated."

WEAVERS WATCH DREAMS COME TRUE AS BUILDING PROCEEDS

Plans for a horse fanciers' "dream" estate are materializing for Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Weaver who have made rapid progress in building up their new home, Weaver stables, on Seventeenth boulevard in the three months since they purchased the Loomis property here.

Weaver, president of a Long Beach motor car firm, and Mrs. Weaver are both lovers of horses and their plans include a show ring, larger than that at Los Angeles county fair grounds, with a small grandstand, and for this additional land is being secured adjoining their present property. The ring, 325 by 135 feet in size, will be centered by a lawn.

Covers All Details
Improvements include a model stable, the building being 35 by 45 feet in dimension. It has 22 roll-top sliding doors, an inside and outside door for each stall, which is complete with automatic drinking fountain, automatic feed mangers.

"LOVELESS CHILDHOOD" CITED AS REASON FOR SOCIAL MISFIT
The "malingerers, liars and swindlers" at large in the world today cannot help themselves—they had "loveless childhood."

This is the latest theory regarding misfits in society according to Dr. Mark A. Dalton who reported today of the advancement of the theory by Dr. C. H. Grundy in the Canadian Medical Association journal.

Emotional Deprivation
According to the article reviewed by Dr. Dalton, "many difficulties arise as a result of emotional deprivation."

"If parents are too poorly developed to expend love, if they really do not want their children, or if their children are brought up without parents or satisfactory substitutes, it is as if the children were deprived of a sort of emotional vitamin," the article states.

Seek Attention
"They are apt to remain immature, to fail to develop stable, robust characters. Never being identified with a family group, it is hard for them to fit into large social groups, being cheated out of the love they may try to gain attention in unwholesome ways," the article concludes.

A grasshopper can jump about one hundred times its own length.

Tractor Operator Needs No State Driver's License

Anyone may operate a caterpillar tractor to work farm land without obtaining a chauffeur's or ordinary driver's license, Capt. H. C. Meehan of the Orange county unit of the California highway patrol, pointed out today in answering a series of questions submitted by interested motorists.

"When the body of a vehicle or load extends 32 inches or more to the left of the center of the steering wheel or under any condition when a hand and arm signal cannot be seen both to the front and rear of such vehicle, the vehicle must be equipped with a special signal device," the captain stated in answering another question.

A U-turn is permitted in the middle of a block in a residential district if no other car is approaching within 200 feet, he explained to another motorist. He said state law requires that a change of address be filed with the department of motor vehicles always within 10 days after a motorist moves from one address to another.

Charming Girl Arrives
From Texas
For Santa Ana Wedding

Arriving in this city just a week ago, Miss Esther Newhouse, a charming Texas girl, daughter of Mrs. A. V. Newhouse of Honey Grove, Texas, was a bride Friday night at rites which found attractive setting in Santa Ana Wedding chapel.

Her vows were exchanged with Edward J. Mahaffey, formerly of Clarendon, Texas, son of Mrs. Della Mahaffey of this city. The Rev. Earl C. Bloss conducted the quiet, impressive rites, for which the bride was gowned in turquoise blue crepe with matching dress accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Earl Vinson, wearing gardenias with her black crepe frock, was matron of honor, and Mr. Vinson served Mr. Mahaffey as best man.

Immediately following the wedding was a reception complimenting the new Mr. and Mrs. Mahaffey, and for which the home of the Wallace O'Brien, at 1419 West 4th street, was opened. Mrs. O'Brien is a sister of the bridegroom, and she and her other sisters, Mrs. Starr O'Brien of this city, Mrs. Julius G. LeBlond of Los Angeles, aided their mother, Mrs. Della Mahaffey, in hostess duties.

Charming flower decorations were on a bidden table, and prominence in the dining room was given to a towering wedding cake, the first slice of which was cut by the bride. Ice and coffee were served with the cake. There were many beautiful gifts for the newly wedded couple to examine, all of them to find place in the home they are establishing on West Fourth street.

Formerly a cattleman in Texas, E. J. Mahaffey returned to Santa Ana a year ago, and is now engaged in the automobile painting business here. His bride is a graduate of Texas schools and a Wichita Falls business college.

Guests at the wedding and its subsequent reception included with Mrs. Della Mahaffey, Messrs. and Mesdames Earl Vinson, W. E. Rumower, Everett Hurd, Bert Talliver, Julius LeBlond, Starr O'Brien and daughter, Edna Faith, Wallace O'Brien and son Ronald, Mrs. White, Mrs. Mary O'Brien and Dick Allemen.

Mrs. Jack Valley Resumes
Her Monthly Ebell Reviews

Commenting upon the significant fact that each autumn as she resumes her monthly Ebell programs of reviewing current world events and books of interest, she has reason to speak of tension prevailing in international affairs during the summer months, Mrs. Jack Valley yesterday reminded Ebell society that the recent European crisis surpassed any previous one since World War days.

Apparently refreshed by her summer's lapse in regular programs, Mrs. Valley seemed to approach her summarizing of world events with a renewed enthusiasm and fire. Introduced by Mrs. Roy Shaffer, program chairman, she presented what she termed a "soliloquy" as to whether the recent crisis was merely a postponement. Even in this case she saw an element of optimism, pointing out that the rule that might apply to a postponement of family disagreements which meanwhile would be overcome or adjusted, might just as aptly apply to international affairs. Her talk closed with the same optimistic note, when she quoted Stephen Leacock's priceless bit of kindly humor: "All is Not Lost."

Meantime she compared the conservative and sane qualities of Neville Chamberlain and other European leaders, with the hysteria of the dictators, in radio talks broadcast over the world. Tracing the beginnings of the recent crisis, she pointed out that they antedated the oft-quoted Versailles treaty. For a hundred years ago in German history, the "Drive to the East" had its inception, when possibilities of expansion that would take in the Danubian valley, became apparent.

"Watch Russia!" Mrs. Valley stressed among other matters, the isolationist policy of Russia, suggesting that she holds the key to Central European policies. That Russia's trade agreement with Germany means that we should watch the former country for important developments of the future, was another of her vital points.

From her presentation of world affairs, she passed to the books of her October list. Along with a cleverly descriptive of the importance in this country's cultural development, of the old Chautauque circuits. She gave much time also to "The Big Four" (Oscar Lewis) and its faithful portraits of the men and era of the Central Pacific's transcontinental railroad, Charles Crocker, Leland Stanford, Mark Hopkins and Collis P. Huntington. "Horse and Bugzy Doctor" (Arthur E. Hertler), "Sailor on Horseback" Irving Stone's biography of Jack London, and "Fanny Kemble" by Margaret Armstrong, were discussed. The one novel on the current list, "Dynasty of Death" (Taylor Caldwell) was cited as a powerful tale of a great nation's family and its influence not only upon national life, but international affairs.

Three cheerful books given more or less detailed review were Margaret Halsey's "With Malice Toward Some," as an American woman's view of England; Vera Brittain's "Three a Stranger," presenting the picture in reverse as an English woman's experiences in this country, and Gay MacLaren's "Morally Well Along," a cleverly descriptive of the importance in this country's cultural development, of the old Chautauque circuits.

She gave much time also to "The Big Four" (Oscar Lewis) and its faithful portraits of the men and era of the Central Pacific's transcontinental railroad, Charles Crocker, Leland Stanford, Mark Hopkins and Collis P. Huntington. "Horse and Bugzy Doctor" (Arthur E. Hertler), "Sailor on Horseback" Irving Stone's biography of Jack London, and "Fanny Kemble" by Margaret Armstrong, were discussed. The one novel on the current list, "Dynasty of Death" (Taylor Caldwell) was cited as a powerful tale of a great nation's family and its influence not only upon national life, but international affairs.

Business affairs of the society were considered in the interval before Mrs. Valley's introduction, when Mrs. J. E. Paul presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. S. Thomson. There were announcements of the gala bridge party and fashion show next Saturday afternoon, a postponement of Drama section from Monday to Tuesday night, when it will meet with Mrs. L. L. Beeman, 916 French street; and of the Southern District convention in Coronado next month.

With mid-year conference of Orange County federation scheduled for October 27 in Buena Park, delegates and alternates were named. Delegates selected were Mesdames J. S. Smart, Cood Adams, Jessie White, P. S. Virgin, C. A. Warren, Aldric Worwick, E. B. Sprague, R. P. Yeagle, Ralph Smedley, Paul Bailey, John Cloyes, W. S. Nau, Mark Lacy, Ellis Diehl, W. B. Helms, Walter Spicer, Stanley Reichhaus and C. V. Davis. On the list of alternates were the Mesdames Pauline Parsons, Louise Tubbs, Lulu Martin, Effie Douglas, Mesdames Charles Drutt, R. C. Hoiles, H. B. Van Dien, Harvey Gardner, Emrys D. White, George Raymer, John I. Clark, George S. Smith, Terry E. Stephenson, Susan Rutherford, K. H. Sutherland, Alan Segerstrom, Fred C. Rowland and Dr. Margaret D. Baker.

BIRTHDAY DINNER PARTY
In celebration Saturday of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. W. A. West, was a most enjoyable dinner party given at her home in the West home on West Seventeenth street.

A roast turkey menu was served to the accompaniment of decorations suggesting the approach of the Halloween season. A bright orange flower bowl held blossoms in harmonizing tones, and quaint Halloween figures adorned nut cups and place cards. Presents were thus indicated for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. West, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Man of Huntington Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gardner, Mrs. Mary Walters, Mr. and Mrs. William Mize and Robert Wallace.

Flowers and greeting cards which had collected all day for the birthday celebrant, had the addition of many lovely gifts from her dinner guests, presented before the group turned to card play as informal evening diversion.

Dessert Bridge Party
Is Pleasant Event

Among charmingly intimate social affairs of the week-end, was the dessert bridge party at which Mrs. Helen McCollum received a little group of friends Friday afternoon in her home, 501 East Walnut street.

Blending perfectly with the varied hues of the zinnias which the hostess arranged decoratively were the golden Mexican sunflowers brought her by Mrs. Joe Steele. The dessert course was served to this flower accompaniment, before the group turned attention to contract play. Boxes of assorted sweetmeats were chosen by the hostess as rewards for the two high scores, made by Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Harpold. Mrs. Steele also was special gifts in which Mrs. Steele again was one winner, with Mrs. Charles Rummel securing the second.

In Mrs. McCollum's guest group were Mesdames Clyde Cave, Joseph Ashland, Charles Rummel, Ralph Barker, Joe Steele, Milton Johnston and Harold Naylor.

HOME FROM ENGLAND

After a three months' stay in England, Mrs. Leonard Garvett returned home Sunday on the S. S. America, and is residing with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Tedford, 215 South Birch street.

Mrs. Garvett visited in Wellington, England, with Mrs. Arthur Garvett and the Misses Hilda and Muriel Garvett, mother and sisters of her late husband, Leonard Garvett. The visitor also spent some time in London and Eastbourne, and was her second trip to England, where she spent some time in 1927.

Although Mrs. Garvett noticed that there was considerable apprehension of war in England, she was on the boat making the trip home at the time of the crisis of relations between Britain and Germany.

WELCOME HOME!

Absent from home ever since late July, Mrs. S. A. Jones, 2327 Benton way, returned Sunday from a trip which took her to various points in the middle west and her first visit was made in the mountain city of Manitou Springs, Colo., and was followed by short stays in other Colorado cities. In Denver, she had the pleasure of being entertained by Mayor Dan Stapleton, her former classmate at National Normal university in Lebanon, Colo.

Continuing on to Lebanon, Mrs. Jones attended a college reunion before returning to St. Cloud, Minn., for a month with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Jones. En route home she spent some time with friends in Seattle.

SMALL DAUGHTER ARRIVES

Friends may now address Mrs. Belle Spangler, county welfare worker, as "Grandma," and may apply similar courtesy titles of grandpa and grandma to the Hugh J. Plumb of Main street, Tustin, because of the arrival this morning at St. Joseph hospital, of little Miss Nancy Nell Plumb, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Plumb.

Mrs. Don Plumb was Miss Helen Spangler, and her baby daughter's birth this morning brought special rejoicing to the Hugh Plumb family, made up exclusively of boys. The baby's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Spangler and her daughter, Miss Loretta Spangler, have just returned to Santa Ana from a year's stay in Laguna Beach, and are established in Suite 12, Magnolia apartments, 1408 North Broadway.

Church Societies

Episcopal
Completing plans for their rummage sale which opened Friday for several days, members of Episcopal Church of Most Holy Women's Auxiliary met Wednesday afternoon in parish hall. The sale is in progress at Fourth and French streets.

Tentative arrangements were made for a benefit affair to be held in November. There will be an afternoon tea, a sale of food and other articles, and a dinner party in the evening, it was decided. The past week's program featured an address by Mrs. W. A. Holt, who told of the Episcopal Home for the Aged located near Los Angeles. Mrs. Charles Riggs and Mrs. James Hird were in charge of arrangements for refreshments. Mrs. W. J. Hatter poured tea, presiding at a table decorated with Star of Bethlehem and purple sage blossoms. Events of the afternoon were preceded in the morning by Corporate Communion.

First Presbyterian
Forty members of First Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Northwest section assembled recently for an afternoon event in the home of Mrs. Milo K. Tedstrom, 2215 North Flower street.

Miss Roberta Benedict played piano solos, "Polonaise in C Minor," "Ballad of the Harp Weaver" by Edna St. Vincent Millay and "Japanese Love Song."

Mrs. H. K. Pollock, vice president, conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Everett Hunter.

Refreshments were served by a hostess committee composed of Mesdames H. O. Phillips, S. W. Graves, J. R. Dobson, J. C. Kirby, Don Cox and Miss Ruth Crosby.

Party Hostesses Plan
Personal Shower for Prospective Bride

Entertaining Saturday evening in the L. A. Gowdy home, 820 Kilson Drive, Mrs. Gowdy and Miss Eunice Bragg of Garden Grove, paid a pleasant compliment to Miss Catherine Cosner of Garden Grove, in honor of her betrothal to Peter Tuman of Portsmouth, Va.

Because the wedding date of the young couple is so near, and Miss Cosner is assembling her trousseau for the event to take place Monday, October 17, her hostesses showed their interest by making the party a personal shower for the bride-elect. The be-ribboned packages were presented her at the close of a session of bridge. At the same time prizes for first and second high scores were awarded, and Miss Cosner herself received first, with Miss Norma Cosner taking second.

Autumn colors were emphasized in the flowers used so profusely about the home, with baskets of zinnias and quantities of display and pompon dahlias lending their loveliness to the scene. When refreshments were served, the hostesses played their party honoree at a table where small bridal figures were posed on a mirror. Other tables had dainty flower clusters reflected in small mirror plaques.

Mrs. Gowdy and Miss Bragg included on their guest list with Miss Cosner, her mother, Mrs. C. B. Cosner, the Misses Beth Cosner and Myrtle Ziegler, of Garden Grove; Mrs. Clyde Bowman, Crescent City; Miss Frances Bragg, Bakersfield; Miss Floyce Haas, Long Beach; Miss Norma Cosner, Escondido; Miss Eudella Bowman, Anaheim; and Mrs. Wallace Bragg, Whittier.

CONVENTION PLANS

Discussing plans for the part which they will take in Delta Theta Chi convention October 22 and 23 at Arrowhead Springs, members of the local chapter met last night in the home of Miss Bette Vorce, 1125 Orange avenue.

The Santa Ana group will be in charge of the round tables which will feature the convalescence, it was announced. It is expected that 10 members of the local chapter will attend the affair.

Next regular meeting will be held October 24 in the home of Miss Irene Ross, 216 South Main street. For their annual Halloween party October 31, members will share the hospitality of the homes of Mrs. Emmet Seacord, of this city and Miss Adeline Loptien of Orange.

Miss Vorce served refreshments to the group, which included the Misses Leone Baxter, Daisy Carr, Ann Detweiler, Norma Jean Kinn, Adeline Loptien, Irene Ross, Alice Whitten and Mesdames T. E. McLeod, Emmet Seacord and Harvey Doosken (Mary Bowyer).

Of Party Honoring

Distinguished by the charm of intimacy, was a party of yesterday afternoon for which Mrs. Carl Hankey of San Juan Capistrano, opened the Hankey summer home at Sunset Beach in compliment to Mrs. Herbert Stroschein of this city. They had the home gay with flowers in delicate hues of pink, blue and peach, with pompon dahlias especially lovely on the lace-spread table from which a dessert course was served. A variety of games sped the afternoon hours, but chief feature of interest was the presentation to the guest of honor, of the many lovely gifts selected by her friends for the layette she is assembling.

Read Child Stories

Evincing an interest in the writing of stories for children, Quill Pen club members, meeting last night with Mrs. S. B. Marshall, 223 South Garvey street, found their program largely devoted to that type of writing.

Both the club president, Mrs. J. U. Vian, and Mrs. William Fritcher had chance to write on the theme of childhood, the former having no title for her story, but Mrs. Fritcher titling hers, "Jimmie's New Friend." Mrs. Vian also read a group of impressionistic poems, "Morning at Home," "California Fog," "Young Eucalyptus Trees" and "Night." Mrs. Carl Smith also added a poem to the program, "Alibi Victory."

One guest, Miss Nellie Corbick of Pueblo, Colo., shared the interests of the program with club members. The evening closed with refreshments served by the hostess. Legion's Past
Commanders
Honor Mothers

One of the first social gestures of the recently organized Past Commanders' association of Santa Ana Post 131, American Legion, is planned as a compliment to members of Legion Mothers' club. For on Thursday at noon in Veterans hall, the Past Commanders will entertain the club at a luncheon. American Legion and its past commanders have been frequent objects of Mothers' club hospitalities, so the gesture of friendliness on the part of the association is an appreciation of past courtesies. The association was formed in the past spring months, and its president is Dr. John Wehrly, first commander of Santa Ana post.

Couple's Anniversary
Occasions
Gala Surprise Affair

Added significance was given Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones' twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Saturday night when the couple arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ellis, 725 Cypress avenue to find all in readiness for a surprise party.

Appropriately, Mrs. Ellis had introduced a silver and white motif in all decorations, inviting her guests to find places at a long table in the dining room. A miniature bride with flowing veil and a tiny bouquet, a bridegroom and a corps of attendants including a flower girl, formed an intriguing centerpiece.

Mrs. Ellis' artistry found expression in such attractive appointments as the silver and white nut cups each of which bore the figures "25". Mrs. George Pearson had made the elaborately decorated wedding cake which was served with ice cream and other dainties. As a gift of the assembled group, Mr. and Mrs. Jones received a silver tray.

Rewarded for their skill in Chinese checkers, the game of the evening, were Mr. and Mrs. Pearson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clayton, who received prizes wrapped in silver and white.

Present with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis and the honored pair, Mr. and Mrs. Jones were Messrs. and Mesdames J. W. Parkinson, Dave Smith, Joseph Coombs, Carl Fisher and Charles Clayton, all of this community; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ellis of Riverside and Mr. and Mrs. George Pearson of Long Beach.

College Events

Pioneers' Dinner

Junior College Pioneers took part in the prevalent rushing season on the college campus, by feasting prospective members the past week, in the home of their past president, Miss Nina June Robertson, 2636 North Main street. In the receiving line with the hosts were Miss Merle Swingle, her successor in office, and Miss Lillian Dickson, advisor.

An enjoyable evening was devoted to playing bunko in which prizes were won by the Misses Evelyn Miralce, Vivian Stanley, Betty Lou Honeford and Audrey Barnes. Rushes participated in a drawing for the attractive door prize, which was won by Miss Barbara Hall.

A salad course was served, followed by individual ice cream airplanes in Pioneer colors, brown and white. Tables were centered with many colored zinnias, and elsewhere in the home were bowls of the beautiful dahlias and hydrangeas from the Robertson garden. The flowers were combined with the airplane theme and carried out during the affair.

Committees in charge of the event comprised the Misses Nina June Robertson, Merle Swingle, Gerry Peck, Dorothy Norwood, Anna May Archer, Mary Norwood and Marjorie Vollmer. Others present in addition to rushes, were the Misses Kitty Slauson, Jean Macauley, Phyllis Krock, Alma Mae Hlatt, Maxine Huber and the prize winners, the Misses Miralce, Stanley, Honeford and Barnes.

Chinese Party

Junior college Las Meninas were hostesses in the home of Miss Barbara Speed, 2315 Santiago avenue, Thursday evening when they entertained thirty-five rushes. Guests were received at the door by the Misses Juanita Stanfield and Barbara Speed, who instructed them to discard their shoes, and don Chinese sandals.

Further carrying out the Chinese theme was the Oriental fare served to guests seated on cushions on the floor. Serving were the Misses Bette Ann Munson, Dorothy Black, Juanita Stanfield, Isa Grace Young and Barbara Speed, all wearing Chinese pajamas.

Chinese checkers occupied the later evening. Members present in addition to the rushes were the Misses Grace Adams, Peggy Ackerman, Irene Simon, Persis Davis, Jo Butler, Eileen Gibbs, Stella Christ, Jean McBurney, Aloin Miller, Dorothy Newman, Helen Andrews, Mary Ann Low, Dorothy Black, Isa Grace Young, Bette Ann Munson, Juanita Stanfield and Barbara Speed.

Airline traffic in continental U. S. continues to make steady progress, and indications point to a record-breaking year for passengers carried. During the first eight months of the year 708,189 passengers were flown by domestic airlines.

County Wedding Occurs
In Local Chapel

Santa Ana Wedding chapel was scene of a double ring ceremony Sunday afternoon, October 9 when Miss Irene Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. La Monte R. Webb of Anaheim became the bride of John L. Hayden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Hayden of Fullerton.

Four-thirty o'clock was the hour for the rites, read by the Rev. Earl C. Bloss. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a navy blue pin-stripe suit with blue accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of gardenias, lilies of the valley and white roses. Miss Elaine Webb, her sister's maid of honor, wore one of the new fall shades of novelty crepe shot with silver. Gardenias formed her corsage bouquet. Theo Burton of Fullerton was best man.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Hayden plan to make their home in Anaheim.

REASON TO SING

When Clarence V. Trickey soon concludes a several weeks visit here in his former home community, he will return to his musical studies and radio programs in Houston, Texas, as the very proud father of an eight-pound daughter, little Miss Clarice Yvonne Trickey. The little maid was born to Mrs. Trickey on October 6 in St. Joseph hospital.

Mrs. Trickey was Miss Florence Moore, and she and her baby daughter will remain with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Moore, 1214 Lacy street, for a few weeks. In the meantime Mr. Trickey will resume his vocal studies in Houston, where his rich basso voice is attracting much favorable attention.

Mixing Bowl
BY ANN MEREDITH

The ritual of making fruit cake for the holidays is a happy one in homes with children, or where husbands like to hang around the kitchen offering gratuitous advice in the hope that they may be allowed to scrape the cake bowl.

Since fruit cake improves by age and ripening, why not try this old recipe? I have made it yearly and can guarantee its excellence and fine keeping qualities... provided you are able to keep the cake under lock and key.

Old English Pork Cake
1 pound firm fresh pork fat, run through the grinder
1 pint boiling water poured over fat.

When the fat and water have cooled, add:
2 pounds seeded raisins
2 pounds currants
1 pound walnut meats, not chopped

½ pound citron, cut fine
1 cup cooking molasses
2 cups sugar sifted with
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon allspice and 1-2 teaspoon ground cloves.
1 teaspoon soda (mixed with molasses before adding to recipe)
4 cups pastry flour sifted twice with 2 level teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt.

—A tested recipe.
Prepare fruit hours before mixing, so that it may be well dried. Do not add fruit to ingredients, listed in order, but do add it, handful by handful, as the flour is mixed into the wet ingredients. This way of handling the fruit keeps it from sinking too badly.

For a richer cake, add 4 eggs, whites of 3 beaten stiff and folded into batter. Add candied pineapple.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Moulded Fresh Cranberry Salad
1½ cups washed cranberries run through food chopper (coarse knife)

1-2 cup sugar sprinkled over cranberries and left to stand for 1 hour.

1 package lemon gelatin powder, dissolved in 1½ cups hot water.

Prepare the lemon gelatin while the cranberries and sugar are hobnobbing. By the time they are ready, the lemon jelly will be semi-solid. Stir cranberries through jelly, pour into moulds and chill.

Serve on lettuce with a tart mustard-flavored mayonnaise, thinned with lemon juice and cream. The salad contains eight portions.

Did you ever do this when you were a little boy or girl? Quietly slip into the pantry, lift the lid off the cookie jar, make a wild grab, and run to cover like a scared rabbit? Well, if you did, and the loot had a caraway seed topping, your pecculation was well worth the possible licking you may have taken. Introduce your children to this old-time cookie.

Caraway Seed Cookies

1 cup butter or substitute, salt added when substitute is an unsalted fat.

1 cup white sugar

1 egg

2 Tablespoons sour cream

1 teaspoon soda dissolved in 1 tablespoon hot water

3-4 cups flour pre-sifted, then with

¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Caraway seed and sugar for top of cookies.

—A tested recipe.

Cream butter and sugar, drop in egg and cream and beat well. Add dissolved soda and the flour. Turn the stiff dough onto a lightly floured board and knead. Roll in small patches, putting all scraps aside for one rolling. Scatter caraway seed and sugar over each painful of cookies as they go into a medium oven. The recipe makes 5 dozen crisp bits of goodness.

SERIAL STORY
MURDER TO MUSIC BY NARD JONES

CAST OF CHARACTERS
MRS. R. A. DUMBEY—heroine.
Wife of the deceased swing band leader.
ROBERT TAIT—hero. Newspaper photographer-detective.
ANNE LESTER—Myrna's close-est friend.
DANNIE FEELEY—officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dumbe's murder.

Yesterday: Tait returns to his apartment to find Harris Rogers waiting for him. Rogers warns him to keep out of the Dumbe case.

CHAPTER VIII

"Go ahead," Tait said.

"I've said that Dumbe's financial affairs are in a mess. I won't go into that in detail, because you're welcome to look at the books at any time. And, if I may add it, they've been gone over regularly by a certified public accountant. For the moment, let me simply assure you that Ludden Dumbe died a bankrupt, and that his band isn't worth a nickel without some smart managing from here on."

"I'll accept that," Tait said slowly. "Let's have the rest of it."
"Did you ever hear of a song called 'The Cat's Meow'?"

"Of course I've heard of it."
"And who had not?" "The Cat's Meow" might have been well called the theme song of the jitterbugs, the disciples of swing. It was on records in a dozen ways, always by permission of Ludden Dumbe and the copyright owners. It popped up in radio programs, and it had been featured in a smash hit musical motion picture. They whistled and sang
"The Cat's Meow" from New York to Walla Walla and back again.
The song had skyrocketed and, amazingly, retained most of its popularity. The leader-composers of other swing bands had tried to produce a song that would stick as well in the mad world of swing music—and had failed.

"You think, like everybody else, that Lud Dumbe wrote that song," Harris Rogers said.

"If Dumbe didn't, then who did?"

ROGERS smiled. "It's been good business to keep that name a secret, and I think it still is good business. I'm telling you that Dumbe didn't write it. It was brought to him by a broken-down musician who wanted Dumbe to plug it in his band because he hadn't been able to sell it. Dumbe could see that with a little fixing he might make it into a big hit—with its introduction by The Swingsters. He offered to buy it outright, but the man was just a little too cagey for that.
So he did offer to turn it over to Lud on a royalty proposition. To the world it was to be Dumbe's song—words and music. But the real author was to get a percentage of any and all types of revenue from 'The Cat's Meow'."

"Well, Dumbe couldn't be hanged for that, Rogers. It was a business proposition—and with Dumbe's name behind it the musician probably made hundreds of times what he would have made on his own."

"Yes," answered Rogers. "He would have—if Dumbe had kept his affairs in decent shape. But Dumbe was always broke. He let payment after payment slip.
Time and again I've had to scrape up enough money to keep the fellow quiet. A thing like that would have cracked Dumbe wide open, and this fellow began to realize it."

Tait moved impatiently, and Rogers hurried on. "I'm not quite finished. There is the matter of Lud's contract with the recording company. He was supposed to make records for them exclusively —but he got into a jam and needed quick money. He went out into a little venture of his own.
He began getting a few of the boys in the band and making bootleg records for shipment into the foreign market. That's not according to his contract. I happen to know that the recording company is carrying on an investigation—and they'll sue."
Rogers paused a moment. "Do you want to hear any more?"

"Make it snappy, then."

"A LOT of women were in love with Dumbe, you know.
Some of them knew him pretty well. And extended investigation into his past is going to kick up some things that would wreck his reputation with the swing fans, and thereby make The Swingsters useless as a name to draw the crowds. I've managed to hold the Pacific-Plaza to its contract—but unless things quiet down and this business is forgotten, they won't renew. And if Pacific-Plaza doesn't renew, we couldn't get a job in a fourth-rate beer tavern tomorrow."

Tait turned his hand on the knob of the door, opened it. "I appreciate your telling me this,"
he said slowly.

Rogers picked up his hat.
"You're going to forget your curiosity, then?"
"I'll think it over, anyhow."
The band manager seemed unsatisfied. "My advice is to do more than that, Tait. I'm not going to tell you any more than I have—but I've an idea that it isn't going to be very healthy to show too much interest in who killed Ludden Dumbe."

Tait stiffened. "Listen, Rogers,

I never did like to have guys tell me what was healthy for me. The way I figure it is this—I may quit trying to play detective, and then again I may not. But whichever it is, I won't worry too much about what you think of it. Is that clear enough?"

Rogers' expression did not change. "I never took you for a fool, Tait. I'm sorry now that I tried to give you a tip."

Tait watched him down the hallway. Then he went to his own front window to be sure that Rogers gained the street and started on his way. When he had made certain of this, he hurried down into the alley. Myrna and Anne were in the car, nervously puffing cigarettes.

"We were just about to come up," Anne confessed, her voice heavy with relief.

"It's lucky you didn't. I had a visitor."

Myrna started. "The police?"
"No. Harris Rogers," he looked at her. "What do you know about him?"

"Only—that I never quite liked him. But Lud seemed to think he was all right. He trusted him with everything."
Tait nodded. Poor Dumbe, he told himself, had to trust Harris Rogers with everything. The band leader had got himself in too deep to do anything else. "Come on," he told the girls. "The coast is clear now."

THEY went to Tait's apartment.
"Myrna, I want you to hit that bed of mine in there. Ann's going to do some shopping—and I think I'll trot down to have a talk with Feeley. I don't want to get you down there at headquarters and have them spring the trap. I've known Dannie a long time and I think I can get him to talk sense."
He turned to Anne. "Get back here as soon as you can, will you, Anne? There's some coffee and grub in the kitchen. I'll call for you around noon."

On the way out, Tait went into the apartment's basement and rang the janitor's bell. That sleepy individual appeared warily.

"Say, Pete—I wish you wouldn't let anybody in my apartment when I'm gone. Not even if they pretend to be my grandmother."
"Let anybody in your apartment, Mr. Tait? I didn't let nobody in your apartment."

"You didn't let a fellow in last night who said he was a friend of mine and wanted to wait until I returned?"
"No, sir, Mr. Tait."

"Who else has a key to the apartment?"
"Nobody," said Pete. "Nobody but me."

Our Children

A BAD TEMPER

Jack had just had a birthday and one of his gifts, the best of all to him, was an electric train. He spread the tracks on the livingroom floor, hitched the line to the floor socket and waited for the train to start. It didn't start. He picked the engine up, shook it, set it back. Nothing happened.
He took the plug out and put it back carefully. Nothing happened.
In a rage he lifted the engine and smashed it against the wall with all his might. Then he lay down on the floor and cried.

"What in the world ails you? A boy eleven years old acting like a spoiled infant. You've broken the engine; you've spoiled the wall.
I'm about fed up with you. Get out of here and stay in your own room until you can behave like a human being."

You couldn't blame mother much when you think of it. A boy that old, in Junior high school, too.
The next day Jack's science teacher entered the office to say
"I think Jack needs some attention. His work is falling off. He's irritable and jerky. He spoiled his experiment today, lost his patience and broke the slide and then cried.
Looks to me as if he had about reached the end of his rope."

"I'll have the doctor see him, of course, if you say so, but there's nothing the matter with him, that I know. He's just had tempered."
The doctor looked at Jack and said, "Humph! How old are you?
Humph! What class? Humph! In a hurry, aren't you? Most of the children older than you aren't they?
I thought they must be. What do you do all day? Well, tell me what you have done so far today."

"I got up at half past six; took my bath and dressed and practiced my violin; did my history map; ate my breakfast and went to school.
I stayed in school until noon. I ate my lunch; studied my Hebrew lesson. Went back to school. Then I came here."

"And if you hadn't come here what would you have been doing?"
"After school I'd have gone to Hebrew class. Then to my music lesson. Then when I got home I'd have to read French with my tutor. Then it would be dinner time. After dinner I'd have to do my homework. I'd work until I got them done, maybe ten, maybe eleven. Then I'd go to bed."

ANSWER: Yes. But their scales are imbedded in the skin and cannot be seen by the casual observer.

The sensational gorilla stories of Paul du Chailu, first white man to shoot a gorilla, did much to create an erroneous impression of this animal. Edgar Allan Poe's "Murders in the Rue Morgue" increased the public distrust of these apes.

Party Held On Sixth Birthday

ORANGE, Oct. 11.—The sixth birthday of Lois Diane Swift, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Swift, was celebrated recently at the home of her parents with a birthday party. Games were played, with high score in one game being made by Janet Leichtfuss and the other by the little hostess. Refreshments were served at a table centered with figures of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. The birthday cake was decorated in pink and white and held six glowing pink candles.

Present were Mary Ellen Meisinger, Marilyn Fenton, Janet and Betty Lou Leichtfuss, Donna and Devonne Marsh and Harriet Jane Lampert.

Girl Reserves In Supper Program

ORANGE, Oct. 11.—Mrs. M. M. Fishback, who traveled extensively in Europe and the near east this summer with her husband, was guest speaker at a supper meeting of the combined high school Girl Reserve clubs last night in the lower auditorium of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Fishback told of young people in each country visited.

Mrs. Charles Robinson, Y.W.C.A. secretary, led the devotional period and Miss Clara Spelman led community singing. Dorothy Hawkins, president, announced that October 17 will be the meeting date for each club, with the freshmen at the "Y" and the juniors at the Methodist church. Other meeting places will be announced later.

Mothers of junior girls acted as hostesses at the supper: Mrs. R. B. Newcom, Mrs. Robert Gross, Mrs. L. R. Leininger, Mrs. Joe Jacobs and Mrs. Lucile Sutherland. Special guests were three board members, Mrs. Jane Welsh, Mrs. Florence McCoy and Mrs. Fred Bewley.

Homes Stay Cleaner in Natural Gas Communities

Have you ever considered how California's gleaming white homes would look in a smoky part of the country? The clean atmosphere of Southern California is one reason why stucco houses remain so popular. And certainly one of the big reasons for clean air here is that the favored fuel in homes and factories is natural gas. This fuel gives the intense, economical heat needed, without smoke or residue.

Are you making the most of your gas service with up-to-date appliances? You'll enjoy examining the latest gas ranges, water heaters, furnaces and Servel Electrolux, the gas refrigerator. Ask about the very easy terms.

Biggest Boat Built

England's Queen Elizabeth returned to her native Scotland to launch the world's largest ship, the Queen Elizabeth, at the famous John Brown shipyards in Glasgow. The picture above shows the Queen Elizabeth just before she sailed into the Clyde river. The new ship, built in the same slips that held the Queen Mary, is 1030 feet long and displaces 85,000 tons.

The German "peaceful conquest" of the Sudetenland brought violent repercussions in this country when U. S. Nazis holding a "victory celebration at Union City, N. J., clashed with Czech sympathizers. In the photo above a member of the German-American Bund is shown about to swing a belt at attackers advancing in the foreground. A detective, at right, steps between the battling factions. The riot occurred in a restaurant from which Fritz Kuhn, American Nazi "Fuehrer" fled under police protection.

Fall Rally Held By Guild Members

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 11.—The fall rally of the World Wide guild of the Santa Ana Valley association was held in the First Baptist church of Garden Grove recently with nearly 100 delegates from different parts of Southern California in attendance.

Starting at 4:30 o'clock, conferences were led by Miss Lucille Doty of Corona, and Mrs. Joybell Lewis, of Redlands, state director of guild work. During the dinner served in the bungalow by women of the church Hawaiian music was furnished by Joe and Ben Allen and David Tyler.

After dinner all adjourned to the main auditorium where the evening session opened with a song service led by Miss Hollis Gibbs, of Santa Ana. The devotional service was in charge of the group from Huntington Beach. Mrs. W. A. Atkinson, of Santa Ana, president of the women's work of the association, brought greetings from the women to the guild girls.

Mrs. Alice Stenger, a former missionary in India, gave the address of the evening, telling of her work in that country. The traditional candle lighting service was conducted by Miss Muriel Duncan, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Betty Honor Guest At Dinner

SILVER ACRES, Oct. 11.—Mrs. George R. Betty was honored at a dinner party when her daughter, Mrs. Roy Dunkin, entertained with a dinner at her home on Hazard street. The party was a surprise to Mrs. Betty, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. She was the recipient of many lovely gifts. A white birthday cake topped with a large rose in pink frosting, and a flower arrangement of pink roses and carnations formed the table decorations.

Those present were the honoree and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Goss and son and daughter, Bert Goss Jr. and Helen Goss, of Buena Park; Mr. and Mrs. George McKain, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Lou Pickens, Miss Teeny Brady Bell, Irene Goss, George Goss, Lanny Corona and Jack Daley, of Fullerton; Anne Lee Clement, Anne Betty and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dunkin.

DRIVE CAREFULLY -SAVE A LIFE-

CRUCIAL ACCIDENT PERIOD

The automobile death and accident rate has shown a steady decline for a number of months. But now the crucial test period is at hand.

We are entering the most dangerous driving months. Fall brings rain and in the neighboring states will be followed by ice and snows of winter, all of which immeasurably increase driving hazards. Equally important, these seasons bring shorter days—and the accident rate at night is much higher than in daylight.

The wise driver will prepare for this dangerous period. And preparation should take two forms. Put your car in first-class condition, so far as brakes, lights, tires and steering are concerned. And put yourself in the proper mental condition for safe driving. Never forget that the human element is the responsible factor in the great majority of accidents. Before anyone can drive safely, he must think safely. He must know the hazards he faces, and be prepared for them. This "safety consciousness" is the first and most vital essential of accident prevention.

Remember that chance-taking is never clever. Any fool can push the throttle to the floorboards, pass on hills and curves, disregard adverse weather conditions, and perform similar acts of idiotic recklessness. Caution is the product of intelligence.

Drive safely all the time. And be especially careful in the fall and winter seasons. Then the accident rate will continue to go down.

GET DOWN TO FUNDAMENTALS

The average American is highly wary of Communism, Fascism or other foreign "isms" which he believes may slip through our borders surreptitiously and destroy freedom and democracy as he knows it. Yet it is highly probable, as Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler has pointed out, that the great threat to American Democracy lies within our own borders. Abuse of taxing powers, gradual centralization of government and a growing bureaucracy are a few of the evils that are insidiously undermining Democracy from within, observes Dr. Butler.

Political demagogues have taught millions of persons to believe that the way to better things lies in the destruction of wealth, or, if you will, "the redistribution of wealth," which is another way of putting it. The taxing power of government is being used to do the job. Instead of seeking to create more wealth, more production, and a higher standard of living, the country is backtracking. The people are confused. They are allowing public money to be used to destroy taxpaying enterprises and private jobs under the delusion that they are establishing "social justice," "social security," or some Utopian condition that appeals to mass sentiment.

What is the ultimate solution to this problem? There is only one solution—public education. Just as the three R's, reading, writing, and arithmetic, are taught to every child, so must the simple fundamentals of economics—the bread and butter side of life, the obligation to produce, the obligation to save—be taught to every individual, child and adult alike. Only in this way can Democracy ultimately survive.

CIVIC-MINDED WOMEN

In cities and villages all over the United States you will find this week being set apart by alert and intelligent young women, for a continent-wide observance of National Business and Professional Women's Week.

There are special programs open to anyone interested; there are parades of progressive women, depicting their interests and the active place they take in a community's life; there are posters and banners, newspaper articles and shop window displays. Why is it then, you might ask, that Santa Ana, with its long-established organization, its innumerable clubwomen playing such a prominent part in civic life, has no displays, no parades, no meetings open to the public?

There is a reason—a very important one, we think. One that shows more powerfully than by any other possible means, how civic-minded are these members of Santa Ana Business and Professional Women's club. They have sunk their own club individuality and interests in the common good. They are subjugating club interests and activities to the wider one of Santa Ana's Community Chest. You will find, on the committee of workers, many names of those prominent in the club. They are aiding in canvassing the entire city for membership in the Chest group. They are throwing every effort, every ounce of their strength both as individuals and as a club group, into the effort to aid the city in "going over the top" in Chest contributions.

Santa Ana Business and Professional Women's club needs no parades, no public dinners, no shop window displays, to prove its worth to the community. By this one fact of submerging club interests to the general good, it shows itself as a vital part of civic life.

LABOR HEARS FROM HEADQUARTERS (New York Tribune)

The President's message to the convention of the American Federation of Labor, appealing for peace between the labor factions, will be recognized as no mere expression of pious sentiment. Its implications, in fact, are prodigious. They suggest, for one thing, that he is ready to throw the weight of his political favor to the side which shows a genuine desire for peace. This means simply that unless Mr. John L. Lewis and his Committee for Industrial Organization adopt a more reasonable and conciliatory attitude toward their opponents they are in grave danger of losing their one great asset, the sympathetic backing of the Administration, directly expressed in the policies of the Department of Labor, indirectly in the biased decisions of the Labor Board.

For it must be as evident to the President as to any one else who was responsible for breaking off the peace negotiations which last fall seemed to be advancing toward a successful conclusion. To be sure, Lewis blames the terms offered by the American Federation of Labor, but he has since been refuted by one or more of his own negotiators. It was his doing, they say, and we can believe them, not only from the record but from what has seemed obvious from the beginning of the feud—namely, that Lewis courts hostility as promising him greater power.

Well, the President, apparently, now shares weariness of both labor and the country with the resultant chaos. A series of steps indicate his conversion.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

COMPARING OUR TIMES TO THOSE PRIOR TO THE FRENCH REVOLUTION

It might be interesting for those people who have not had time to read history and see the great similarity between what we are doing now and what was being done before the French Revolution, to quote briefly a few statements made by the great Frenchman, Alexis de Tocqueville (author of the famous "Democracy in America") in his book on his own country, "The Old Regime and the Revolution."

Remember this book was written in 1856—82 years ago; so that there cannot be any charge that it is biased by partisan politics of today. These items seem like conditions, as they exist today.

"Not content with aiding the peasantry in times of distress, the central government undertook to teach them the art of growing rich, by giving them good advice, and occasionally by resorting to compulsory methods."

"Orders were passed prohibiting the cultivation of this or that agricultural produce in lands which the Council considered unsuited to it. Others required that vines planted in what the Council regarded as bad soil should be uprooted. To such an extent had the government exchanged the duties of sovereign for those of guardian."

"The government had a hand in the management of all the cities in the kingdom, great and small. It was consulted on all subjects, and gave decided opinions on all; it even regulated festivals. It was the government which gave orders for public rejoicing, fireworks and illuminations."

"Municipal officers were impressed with a suitable consciousness of their nonentity."

"Under the old regime, as in our own day, neither city, nor borough, nor village, nor hamlet, however small, nor hospital, nor church, nor convent, nor college could exercise a free will in its private affairs, or administer its property as it thought best. Then, as now, the administration was the guardian of the whole French people; insolence had not yet invented the name, but the thing was already in existence."

"Judges whose position was beyond the king's reach, whom he could neither dismiss, nor displace, nor promote, and over whom he had no hold either by ambition or by fear, soon proved inconvenient."

"A very extensive machinery was requisite before the government could know everything and manage everything at Paris. The amount of documents filed was enormous, and the slowness with which public business was transacted such that I have been unable to discover any case in which a village obtained permission to raise its church steeple or repair its presbytery in less than a year. Generally speaking, two or three years elapsed before such petitions were granted."

"A marked characteristic of the French government, even in those days, was the hatred it bore to everyone, whether noble or not, who presumed to meddle with public affairs without its knowledge. It took fright at the organization of the least public body which ventured to exist without permission. It was disturbed by the formation of any free society. It could brook no association but such as it had arbitrarily formed, and over which it presided. Even manufacturing companies displeased it. In a word, it objected to people looking over their own concerns, and preferred general inertia to rivalry."

"It seldom undertook, or soon abandoned projects of useful reform which demanded perseverance and energy, but it was incessantly engaged in altering the laws. Repose was never known in its domain. New rules followed each other with such bewildering rapidity that its agents never knew which to obey of the multifarious commands they received."

"Nobody expected to succeed in any enterprise unless the state helped him. Farmers, who, as a class, are generally stubborn and indolent, were led to believe that the backwardness of agriculture was due to the lack of advice and aid from the government."

"Government having assumed the place of Providence, people naturally invoked its aid for their private wants. Heaps of petitions were received from persons who wanted their petty private ends served, always for the public good."

"Sad reading, this: Farmers begging to be reimbursed the value of lost cattle or horses; men in easy circumstances begging a loan to enable them to work their land to more advantage; manufacturers begging for monopolies to 'crush out competition'; business men confiding their pecuniary embarrassments to the intendant, and begging for assistance or a loan. It would appear that the public funds were liable to be used in this way."

"The local franchises of the rural districts were fading away, all symptoms of independent vigor were vanishing, provincial characteristics were being effaced, the last flicker of the old national life was dying out."

"France is nothing but Paris and a few distant provinces which Paris has not yet had time to swallow up."

All this de Tocqueville says in 1856, adds up to the following:

"History, it is easily perceived, is a picture-gallery containing a host of copies and very few originals." Does this not sound familiar? If we substitute Washington for Paris, states for provinces, and the United States for France, we have a very similar picture to our country in the year 1938.

There was his reference in his message to Congress and a subsequent press conference last winter to the "heavy obligation of public service" which labor unions bore equally with business management, and his citation of the jurisdictional warfare in the lumber industry of the Northwest to ram home his point. There was the appointment, over the protests of Mr. Lewis, of his commission to study industrial relations in Great Britain and Sweden, whose reports since, with their emphasis on the lack of jurisdictional strife in these highly unionized countries, have made a profound impression on his mind. There was his most significant admission to William Green that changes in the Wagner act were due. His appeal for peace follows naturally on this series.

One notes in it a timely warning against "the reaction which otherwise is bound to injure the working themselves." No doubt he was thinking of those picketing measures to control and restrict strikes and picketing which the citizens of California and Washington, so long the victims of labor's factional warfare, seem likely to adopt next month. He can foresee, as can the rest of us, an epidemic of such legislation unless, as he says, "leaders of organized labor can make and keep the peace between various opinions and factions within the labor group itself." And, of course, he can realize that the more widespread the movement the greater the reflection on his administration.

Is he prepared to mediate the dispute? The question must be left in the air until we know whether he is prepared for an open break with Lewis, assuming that Lewis remains as stubbornly belligerent as ever. Meanwhile, it may be worth observing that the A. F. of L. has been forging ahead in membership while the C.I.O., rent with dissension and bearing the odium of Communist intrigue, has fallen behind. Figures of this kind are respected in Washington.

THE FALL OF ROME A WARNING TO US

Fellow Citizens:

In the Liberty Magazine of August 27, Bernard McFadden refers to extracts of the Conquest of Civilization by James Henry Brodhead. His timely article directs our attention to the fact that The Fall of Rome serves as a warning to future Democracies. Does it serve as a warning to the Republic of the United States?

During the days of the Roman Republic it was difficult to obtain citizenship for one who was not a native either of Rome or of one of its dominions. "With a great sum I obtained this freedom," the chief captain said in reply to St. Paul's claim of being a Roman. To be a Roman citizen was considered a high mark of honor, a privilege that carried weight. "But I was free born," said Paul and forthwith he was released by his persecutors.

The Roman Republic stands out as a beacon of inspiration and warning to future democracies. Its basic strength consisted of independent farmers. They were the mainstay of the Republic. In its earlier days its citizens enjoyed in a full measure the satisfaction and happiness that follows in the wake of unhampered initiative in private enterprise. The future may be read by lessons from the past. It is difficult to get a clear insight to present conditions unless we retrace our thinking process to the experiences and lessons of past democracies. History is a valuable guide in clarifying our viewpoint.

What brought about the Fall of Rome? The loss of a prosperous farming class, the breaking down of the morale of the people, corruptions in morals and politics, ruinous taxation, interference of private enterprise.

The breaking down of the morale of Roman citizens was largely due to the merging of a great people into servile dependence and bondage. The granting of these privileges reveals great respect for personality. It embodies replenishing springs of good will.

The main purpose of liberalism is to give man a chance to do his best for himself and his fellow man. We are prone to stress the economic side to the extent of losing sight of man as a moral being. The American ideal is that each should have the opportunity to develop his spiritual possibilities to their fullest extent. Nor should we isolate liberalism from responsibility. The two are twin sisters and should go hand in hand, the one balancing the other.

Never in any previous history of mankind has there been added so much in wealth, knowledge, science and human possibilities as in the late liberal century. Why then are we revolting against liberalism? How can we recapture and revitalize the original spirit of divine rights enumerated in the Declaration of Independence. To do this would be revolutionary and conservative; revolutionary, because it would radically reform our present society. It would bring us back to where we belong by replacing the link of our great tradition, the basis of our government, the everything was fixed by law, wages, prices of goods, production, the minutest details of life. In order to follow any calling or occupation the Roman people were obliged to join guilds and unions. How similar were their problems to ours!

Must we experience the same disconcerting sensation of seeing ourselves in the same throes of despair that brought ruin to ancient Rome? Our present day world is in an extremely unstable condition, politically and economically. The more unstable it is the greater is the need of men and women of intelligence and skill. Happiness is a by-product of trained hands and brains. What can be done to replace the W. P. A.? What's right with it? What wrong? It has degenerated into a hazardous venture of getting votes. In this it has been successful. "Don't bite the hand that feeds you," has been its motto and still is. Rome's experience has been our experience.

The politically primed prosperity has succeeded in getting people into the habit of becoming dependent upon it. The tendency is to slacken up in exerting themselves to make their own prosperity, and to look to the government to do it for them. We are employing the same tactics that Rome utilized in destroying the morale of the plebeians.

The political tendency of today is to steer directly into anti-liberalism. We are sailing away from freedom, personal responsibility, individualism, by degenerating into free exercises of our natural aptitudes and talents into a mere pattern of behavior of a social order of collectivism. Which eventually deprives the individual of free will, freedom of religion, political views, speech, press, private initiative, the sacred privilege of voting as he sees fit. If we continue along this route of anti-liberalism the inevitable result will be the merging of a great people into servile dependence and bondage.

The liberty and freedom granted by the Constitution is humane. It was guaranteed on the theory that man is endowed with life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The granting of these privileges reveals great respect for personality. It embodies replenishing springs of good will.

The main purpose of liberalism is to give man a chance to do his best for himself and his fellow man. We are prone to stress the economic side to the extent of losing sight of man as a moral being. The American ideal is that each should have the opportunity to develop his spiritual possibilities to their fullest extent. Nor should we isolate liberalism from responsibility. The two are twin sisters and should go hand in hand, the one balancing the other.

Never in any previous history of mankind has there been added so much in wealth, knowledge, science and human possibilities as in the late liberal century. To do this would be revolutionary and conservative; revolutionary, because it would radically reform our present society. It would bring us back to where we belong by replacing the link of our great tradition, the basis of our government, the Constitution of the United States, is founded on the Rock of Ages. In the words of William Penn, "Men must be governed by either God or tyrants." What shall be our choice.

HELENA S. CHRISTIANSEN.

Fellow Citizens:

America is to be treated to a new patriotic shrine and a second Liberty Bell, commemorating our deliverance from the "Bankers' Dynasty."

When this history making announcement, belched out of my radio the other night, I was tempted to believe that maybe, Square Skimp or the King Fish had joined the Ham and Egg speakers bureau. It was a fair imitation of their promotional technique anyway.

Those who want the honor of having their names placed in the bronze tablets in this shrine, may realize this by sending the Ham and Egg headquarters a dollar cash and pledging five dollars in warrants if and after the measure passes. The promoters admit the dollar cash is to be used to "win the campaign."

It is just too bad they can't sell the donors a title of nobility for two-bits extra. The sheer brazenness, and cruel deceit, practiced upon a trusting old people, to squeeze a last dollar out of them before election, makes the guy who originally sold the Brooklyn Bridge to a sucker for a hundred dollars, look like a great philanthropist, by comparison. Just as if anyone could buy a place in the Hall of Fame for six dollars. Such schemes as this only tend to cheapen our respect for the truly great of our country.

The promoters only a few weeks ago were telling us what a boon the Ham and Egg plan would be to bankers and businessmen as well as pensioners if we voted it into law. Since the bankers have officially turned up their noses at the Ham and Egg diet, we have been told that we should vote the plan into law in order to wreck the bankers' dynasty." How we can help anybody by wrecking the guy who business, is a poser I can't figure.

The hymn of hate, they are directing at the bankers, would lead us to believe that bankers should be treated as public enemies; benefactors, in helping us to distinguish between true and phoney money. The greatest crime they could commit would be to keep silent in such a crisis.

On the other hand it is a display of very poor citizenship to preach mistrust of bankers as a whole, since the banking business is founded on trust.

Anyway, the bankers are not ballyhooing over the radio, asking you to donate to them your pennies and even dollars to fight "your fight." Think that one over!

PAUL C. PHILLIPS.

A Bid for a Smile

Russell Sage, the financier, was a very cagey individual, especially when anyone was trying to separate him from some of his money. Two promoters visited him one day and talked for an hour about his scheme. They were told Sage's decision would be mailed to them in a few days.

"I really believe we have got Sage at last," said one of them. "I've won his confidence. 'I'm afraid not,' said the other, 'he's too suspicious.'"

"Suspicious? I didn't see any sign of it."

"Well, didn't you notice that he counted his fingers after I had shaken hands with him and we were going out?"

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Three letters from the White House were tucked privately under the door of the Dies committee a few days back. Committee members considered them in executive session, did NOT give them out, said nothing. White House did likewise.

But the house investigators of Fascist bundling and Communist infiltration, have been wondering since why everything happens to them. They think they must have picked the wrong subjects to investigate.

First letter was a note from the President. It was in response to a personal call made October 1 by Committee Chairman Martin Dies. Published news of that meeting was meager but committee members learned that Mr. Dies told Mr. Roosevelt the trouble he was having getting any cooperation out of government departments and asked the President's help.

This help was vitally important. The house resolution authorizing the inquiry specified that the head of each executive department is hereby requested to detail to said special committee such number of legal and expert assistants and investigators as said committee, may from time to time deem necessary. Appropriation for the investigation was cut from $100,000 down to $25,000 by accounts Chairman Lindsay Warren who said the committee would not need the larger sum because it could get help from the department of justice and the public works administration.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would see what he could do.

The President's answering note read:

"Dear Mr. Dies: I am a little tardy in sending you the enclosed copies of letter from the acting attorney general and Mr. Hopkins. I have been so much occupied during the past two weeks with the international situation that I have only just gotten down to enclosing these letters."

First enclosure was from PWA Administrator Harry Hopkins:

"I would not be justified legally or otherwise, should I do this. One of our employees was recently assigned to the special committee of which Congressman Dies is chairman, but I express the hope that you will not require me to make additional details."

"It is true that at one time the WPA did loan some of its employees to the committee on education and labor in connection with its investigation of free speech (note—apparently he means the LaFollette committee investigation of civil liberties) and rights of labor, but the administration did not employ special personnel for the sole purpose of detailing these same to that committee."

The language allowed the house committee no other interpretation than that Mr. Hopkins helped the LaFollette investigation because he was for it, and that he would not want to go out of his way to help this one because he was against it.

The supposition was strengthened by what the committee recalled about "the one" helper Hopkins said he had already given. The committee got this WPA man, not from Hopkins, but from the LaFollette committee. Some Dies committee members got the idea immediately thereafter the young man did not appreciate fully that he was not still working for the LaFollette committee, perhaps even working on them for the LaFollette committee, so he was let go after a few days.

Third letter was from Thurman Arnold, acting attorney general, and like that of Hopkins was addressed to the President:

"It has been the policy of the department of justice to decline to assign agents of the federal bureau of investigation (Hoover's men) to committees of Congress. Requests of that kind have been made by almost every investigating body appointed by either house of congress. To comply with some of these requests and not with others would obviously lead to embarrassment. On the other hand, to attempt to comply with all of them would absorb a considerable portion of our staff of the bureau."

"Sometime ago at your request this department assigned two attorneys to the senate civil liberties committee. This, however, was a rather exceptional situation. More over no agents or investigators were detailed to the committee."

"It is suggested that in any further reply that you make to Congressman Dies you may care to refer to the fact that he is misinformed if he is under the impression that the department of justice has carried on its payroll any investigator for the LaFollette committee or for any other committee."

Thus endeth the final chapter of the throttling of the Fascist-Communist inquiry. Committee members have the feeling that they have been hoodwinked; that Messrs. Hopkins and Arnold (they do not blame Mr. Roosevelt) have weasle-worded themselves out of helping a Fascist-Communist investigation after helping the LaFollette pin a CIO John Lewis button on Tom Girdler, et al.

But there will be a sequel. Hopkins and Arnold are not in the exposed position as Dr. Townsend who nearly went to jail for failing to help another house committee until Mr. Roosevelt rescued him by a pardon at the jail door. The house resolution merely "requested" them to help in developing un-American activities. It did NOT "direct." For this reason they may escape legal contempt of the house, but probably not social contempt.

Their appropriations and even their own salaries come from the house and must come again next January. The FBI, for example, received substantial increases last session from the congressmen. Nothing like that is likely at the next session.

Hereafter, however, congressmen who want to get ahead in the world will investigate more inciting subjects than Fascist and Communist activities in the United States.

Another Reform

By ERIK MCKINLEY ERIKSSON

Professor of History, University of Southern California

For years there has been agitation for legislation to strengthen the regulation of commerce in foods and drugs. A leader in this agitation was the late Senator Copeland of New York.

Until 1906 there was no effective regulation of the sale of either foods or drugs. Food unfit for human consumption was placed on the market without a label, which was a misleading label, which was "offered for sale under the name of another food," or which, if an imitation, is not so labelled.

Drugs which are considered adulterated are those produced under insanitary conditions, or which are made from "filthy, putrid, or decomposed substances," those which contain "poisonous or deleterious substances" injurious to health, and those which are below standard. The Secretary of Agriculture, who is charged with the administration of the law, is given extraordinary authority over new drugs. Before a new drug can be introduced into interstate commerce, an application must be made to the Secretary. Therapeutic tests are made and, unless the Secretary is satisfied, the application will be denied and the drug will not be admitted to interstate commerce.

Regulations similar to those prescribed for foods and drugs are imposed in the case of cosmetics. Even imports and exports are made subject to the law. In enforcing the legislation, the agents of the Secretary of Agriculture are authorized to examine the records of carriers of goods and to inspect factories.

While the law does not go as far as some of the reformers wished, it appears to be far more stringent than the old law of 1906. If administered sensibly, it should result in eliminating at least some of the evils which have prevailed.
